By volunteering, I can form connections with the community and bring about a tangible, positive change in people's lives.

Local secondary/primary schools and local charities/community groups supported by volunteers

For me, volunteering provides an exciting opportunity to meet new people, get to know your local community and shift away from the busy life of the University.

It is astonishing and enriching to see how simply contributing just a few hours of your time could make such a meaningful and positive impact on the local community.

Leading a community project shed immense light into inner workings of the University, and accorded in memory passion of fellow students, and smiles of resident children. Much success is owed to the dedicated staff of Warwick Volunteers, whose noble goal to assist students in making a life by what they give, has achieved wholly in itself.
