Department of English and Comparative Literary Studies

Undergraduate Handbook 2018/2019

Departmental information

1. Welcome / Welcome Back

This is the Department's Student Handbook for 2018-19. This is a mixture of regulations, guidance, and helpful advice to ensure that you get the best degree you can in your time at Warwick. If you have further questions, please do ask any of us for help, especially your Personal Tutor. All the rules, requirements, and deadlines for assessed and examination work set out here are designed to create a level field for all students to do their best. It is not intended to replace information on University regulations available online (<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/gov/calendar>) but to pick out some of the common issues. Our job is to help you realise your opportunities and talents. Yours is to work productively, keep in contact and attend classes, and enjoy your courses. All of the information in this booklet is given in good faith, and believed to be correct at the time of publication, October 2018. Any significant changes to the practices and procedures detailed in this handbook will be notified to students by email and the electronic copy of the handbook available from the English and Comparative Literary Studies website will be updated accordingly.

2. Introduction

The purpose of this handbook is:

- To provide new students with a useful guide to how the Department of English and Comparative Literary Studies functions.
- To provide existing students with a point of reference on topics that often become relevant in your second and final years.

3. Departmental contact details

Telephone: 024 7657 4638 or 024 7652 4928.

Email: UGEnglish@warwick.ac.uk.

Post: Department of English and Comparative Literary Studies, Humanities Building, University of Warwick, CV4 7AL

Location: the department is located on the 5th floor of the Humanities Building. For any queries, please come to the departmental office, room H506. The majority of our teaching rooms are located in the Humanities Building, but seminars are also conducted in Millburn

House (where the Writing Programme is based) and in other buildings around the central campus.

You can find campus maps on the Warwick website to help guide you in your first weeks on campus. The Humanities building can be found on the Central Campus map:

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/about/visiting/maps/campusmap/>

Emergencies: please contact the University Security Team on 024 7652 2222 or 22222 from a campus phone.

Contacting students: the department uses a number of methods to communicate with students but email is the department's preferred method, and students are expected to check their Warwick email address regularly. You will have been given a Warwick University email address when you registered at the University and this is the email address that you should use when contacting your tutors and the Undergraduate Office. The Department's website is at: <https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english>

Notification of cancelled classes: every effort is made by the department to adhere to the published timetable. Occasionally, sessions may have to be moved due to staff illness or other unforeseen circumstances. In the event of a cancelled seminar, your module tutor will notify you by email and will inform you of arrangements for rescheduling.

- Information about departmental IT support systems: the Department uses Tabula as an attendance, seminar and coursework management tool. You will be submitting your coursework via this system. You can find information on getting started with Tabula on the IT Services website here: <https://warwick.ac.uk/services/its/servicessupport/web/tabula/guides/student/> IT Services also offers assistance with their supported software and hardware equipment. For all issues regarding Tabula, desktops or any other IT problems, contact IT Services directly on x73737 while on campus or 024 765 73737 off campus. You can also e-mail the IT Services Help Desk on helpdesk@warwick.ac.uk, and there is a Drop in Centre on the first floor of the Library: <https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/its/servicessupport/servicedesk/> Moodle is also used by some tutors, for example, providing learning materials, and they will provide you with information about how to access this.

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/dus>

The Senior Tutor is responsible for the Personal Tutor system and can provide advice, support and guidance to students if their personal tutor is unavailable or they wish to speak to an alternative member of staff.

Details of Module Convenors can be found on the individual module webpages:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/modules/>

6. Information for the first weeks at the University

University Enrolment information and Induction activities – information can be found at:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/students/welcome>.

English Department Induction information can be found at:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/firstundergraduateyearinfo/>.

Students' Union: please see information about facilities and events:

<https://www.warwicksu.com/>.

7. Data protection information

The University and the Department will process any personal data in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), which came into force in May 2018. Full information on the University's Data Protection policies can be found here:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/idc/gdpr>

Under data protection legislation, no academic committee can discuss a student's personal details without their consent. If you would like to be considered for Mitigating Circumstances (see below), you must complete the form in order to allow the Panel to consider your case.

The University will keep your full student record for six years after the end of the academic year in which you graduate, or other otherwise leave the University. After six years, the University will retain only the data necessary to identify you and confirm the dates you studied at the University, the degree and classification you were awarded, and a transcript of your marks. All other personal data on your student record will be disposed of in a secure manner.

8. Mobile phone policy

Mobile phones should be switched to silent for lectures and seminar classes to minimise disruption to your fellow students and tutor. Use of mobile phones, laptops, tablets and other electronic devices, unless for the express use of taking notes or making a presentation, is not allowed in seminar classes. Your seminar tutor may ask you to leave the seminar and mark you down as absent without excuse if you abuse this privilege.

9. Recording of lectures

Please note: students are not allowed to record lectures or seminars unless given express permission by the lecturer or seminar tutor. If you need to do this for study support reasons, you should contact Disability Services in the first instance who may make this recommendation to the department for you.

The University policy on recording lectures may be found here:

<https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/recordinglectures/>

10. Attendance requirements and monitoring

Monitoring attendance – monitoring points and implications of missing monitoring points for all students and for visa holders in particular:

As a student, you are responsible for managing your own learning by attending lectures, seminars, supervisory sessions and regular meetings with your Personal Tutor, by doing the necessary reading and preparation for classes and by completing assessment tasks on time.

To help us to gauge how successfully you are engaging with your course, identify any problems which you may be experiencing and offer support to help you, the department has a number of check points (monitoring points) throughout the year. If you miss any of the points, this might indicate that you are having problems with the course and need additional support. Your student profile record on Tabula will be updated at the end of each term to show that you have met (or not met) each monitoring point during the term.

Please see Appendix A at the end of this handbook for a full list of monitoring points and further information regarding the consequences of missing them.

For additional information, please see:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/gov/calendar/section2/regulations/reg36registrationattendanceprogress/>

International students should be particularly aware of the consequences of missing contact points: the Academic Office is obliged to report to the Home Office UK Visas and Immigration (formerly the UK Border Agency) if any Tier 4 students have been found not to be engaging with and attending their degree course. This will normally lead to the curtailment of their visas.

Rules for keeping in contact with the department and reporting absence

Absence from classes: Seminar group attendance is compulsory and a register is taken at each meeting. If you miss a seminar through illness or for any other reason, you must contact the seminar tutor (usually by email) with an explanation. The tutor may ask you to provide a medical note: please see below. You must contact the seminar tutor for EACH occasion of absence.

If the reasons for your absence are likely to affect your academic work you should also seek advice from your Personal Tutor, and may wish to fill in a Mitigating Circumstances form: <https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/mitigatingcircumstances>.

Please note that submitting a Mitigating Circumstances form does not mean you no longer need to inform your seminar tutors of absence. You must still contact your seminar tutor each time you are absent. If you do not, it will be recorded as an unauthorised absence and could affect your attendance record. Please see Monitoring Points information.

Absence through Illness: if your illness lasts seven days or less, you should provide a Self Certification form, which is available from the University of Warwick Health Centre: <https://www.uwhc.org.uk/Medical-Certificate/Self-Certification-Form>. If your illness causes absence of more than seven consecutive days from prescribed classes you should, in accordance with University rules, provide a doctor's certificate.

Further information about the University's student sickness absence policy is available at: <https://warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/attendance/sickness>

11. Requesting references from academic staff

It is essential that all reference requests for job/internship/placement applications be made directly to the member of staff whom you wish to be your referee. All requests must be made directly to your prospective referee via their Warwick email account or in person. There is no guarantee a reference will be written if you have not contacted your prospective referee in advance.

12. Transcripts/Degree certificates/HEAR

Undergraduate students at all stages of study may access their Higher Education Achievement Report (HEAR). This serves as a cumulative, formative record until you graduate, at which stage it is finalised and becomes your formal, official record of study, including module marks and degree classification (and replaces the student transcript). https://warwick.ac.uk/services/academicoffice/examinations/records/hear_higher_education_achievement_report.

13. Concerns and complaints

It is important for students to engage proactively with their teaching and learning as well as their wider community experience. You are encouraged to provide feedback (both compliments and concerns) so that, where possible, services can be improved. If you have a concern or complaint, please raise it as soon as possible with the most appropriate member of staff in your academic department or the relevant service or administrative department. If you are not able to find a resolution yourself or do not know who to go to, please do seek advice via the range of services available to help you (e.g. your Personal Tutor and/or your Student Staff Liaison Committee representative within your academic department or Student Support Services (including Disability Services), the Senior Tutor, or the Students' Union Advice Centre).

Should your issue or concern not be resolved through available methods for you to provide feedback, the University has a clear three-stage Student Complaints Resolution Pathway. Further information, advice and guidance is available on the following University webpages:

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/gov/complaintsandfeedback>

<https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/feedbackcomplaints/students/complaints>

For advice in case of grievances with the department, you can contact University Dean of Students' Office: <https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/dean-of-students-office> and/or SU Advice Centre <https://www.warwicksu.com/advice/>

Course information

14. Information on additional course costs (and how to limit them)

Undergraduate students are expected to purchase their own copies of the primary texts for the course, though the department tries to make a considerable amount of material available as part of course-packs. Undergraduate students can obtain most required secondary texts from the University Library. Theatre trips are offered to students on some modules; in many cases the costs are covered or subsidized - none are compulsory.

15. Course regulations

Required total credits to be taken by year of study: 120 credits in each of Year 1, Year 2 and Final year respectively, please see:

<https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/conventions/ug13>

Credit weightings by years of study towards final degree classification: Year 1: 0%, Year 2: 50%, Final Year: 50%.

Guidance on optional module selection

In term 3 of your first year, you will be given information regarding optional modules for your second year. Details of the available modules both within and outside of the English department will be published online.

If you are studying English Literature, you will receive information about the four pathways available within the degree in term 3. You may wish to meet with your personal tutor to discuss which pathway you should follow in your Honours level years that is best suited to your own interests and intellectual progression. For further information about each of the pathways and the modules available within them, please see the link below. You will be asked to select your preferred modules for your second year.

You are allowed to take level one modules in the Language Centre in Year Two so long as they are 'accelerated' language modules (for example, LL141 Spanish Beginners Accelerated). Other level one modules must be discussed with your personal tutor AND the module's department BEFORE applying.

For information on module options for both second and final years, please see <https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/modules/>.

Prerequisites: some Honours level modules have prerequisites. Please see module web pages for details.

The English Office allocates students to modules taking into account the preferences indicated and informs students of the modules they have been given during term 3. Please note that all allocations are provisional until they are confirmed at the start of the next academic year.

16. Modules

Guidance regarding unusual options: please see <https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/modules/optionsmarket> for information about options that can be taken in external departments such as the Institute for Advanced Teaching and Learning (IATL).

Study hours: information about lecture and seminar times can be found on module web pages. There is normally one 50 minute lecture given per week for each first year module, and a one hour seminar. Honours level modules may have a lecture/seminar format, or be taught through seminars only. There also may be additional classes such as the Academic Writing Programme in Year 1. The University guidance on study hours can be found at: <https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/studyhours/>

17. Timetable

Term dates

Autumn Term: Monday 1 October 2018 – Saturday 8 December 2018

Spring Term: Monday 7 January 2019 – Saturday 16 March 2019

Summer Term: Wednesday 24 April 2019 – Saturday 29 June 2019

Please note that the Spring term begins on a Wednesday due to the Easter Bank Holiday.

Reading weeks

Weeks 6 of the Autumn Term and Spring Term are 'Reading Weeks'. These are set aside for private study to enable you to reflect on your learning from the first half of the term and to prepare for the second half of the term.

Tabula timetable

Your timetable will be available via Tabula.

All first year module seminars will start in Week 2 of Term 1 - please note that lectures begin in week 1.

For Honours level modules, lectures and seminars begin in Week 1 of the first term (unless advised otherwise on the module webpage).

Remember that lectures have a set time and cannot be changed. First year students will be allocated to seminar groups for each module; your personal timetable will show you when and where the seminar group is scheduled to meet. Honours level students will have an opportunity to sign up to seminar groups after module registration. If you wish to change your seminar group, you must contact the English Office – not the seminar tutor – to see if space is available in your preferred time/group

Assessment submission deadlines

A spreadsheet of essay deadlines over the academic year is published each year on our web site and available from the English Office. Essays must be submitted electronically via e-submission through Tabula system: please ensure that you keep an email of the receipt for your records. Your Tabula profile contains details of all your individual assignments and deadlines.

Essays must be submitted electronically using Tabula by 12 noon on the stipulated deadline.

Return of feedback deadlines

The department provides feedback via Tabula to students 20 working days after submission. You should arrange a convenient time with your tutor to discuss your feedback if required. The department does not return examination scripts to students. However, tutors can provide you with written feedback if you request it. Please see the University's policy on the timing of the return of feedback to students: <https://warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/assessmentstrat/assessment/timeliness>

18. Examinations and assessment

Assessment conventions:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/conventions/>

Marking criteria:

All Honours level essays are sample moderated. This means the marker will choose 25% (at random across class marks) of the essays they have marked to be passed to a moderator. All Honours level exams are moderated. This means every exam will have two members of academic staff looking at your exam and agreeing a mark.

Your work will be marked using the University's 20 point marking scale. This scale has 20 mark (or grade) points on it, each of which falls into one of the five classes of performance which correspond to the overall degree classification. The University uses these classes of performance for all of its undergraduate modules. The department's marking criteria on this scale are set out in detail in Appendix B. For further information, see also:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/markingscales>

All Honours marks are provisional until they are approved by the Final Year Examination Board and may be subject to change.

Plagiarism and Cheating: what is it, and how to avoid it

Cheating covers:

- plagiarism, which is the failure to acknowledge passages quoted from critics or from any other source, or passing off someone else's thoughts or writings as your own.

Remember that submitting the same, or substantially the same, piece of work for two different modules constitutes self-plagiarism.

- collusion, involving the collaboration by a student with another person in producing a piece of work submitted for assessment, where that piece of work is presented as being solely the work of the student.
- contract cheating, where a student is found to have submitted work for assessment that is procured through a third party, with or without a payment being made. This would usually count as a severe case of cheating and would be referred to an Investigating Committee of Senate.

It is important that you consult the full updated regulations carefully before embarking on your essay work. Detailed information on plagiarism is here:

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/its/servicessupport/academictechnology/teaching/plagiarism>

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/ldc/resource/eguides/plagiarism>

The University regulations are:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/gov/calendar/section2/regulations/cheating/>

Guidelines for dealing with suspected cheating are to be found here:

https://warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/policies/i_suspectedcheating

In addition, the University has prepared two online sources of support which you are advised to use. First, you will find advice on avoiding plagiarism here:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/its/servicessupport/academictechnology/teaching/plagiarism>

Second, a skills tutorial on referencing and avoiding plagiarism is available:

<https://moodle.warwick.ac.uk/course/view.php?id=24642>

If you are in any doubt as to what constitutes plagiarism, please speak to your Personal Tutor, or to your seminar tutor.

Third-Party Proofreading

There are also rules about what is and is not acceptable practice for students seeking proofreading support for their assessed work. All proofreading must follow the University's Proofreading Policy, whether that proofreading is a paid service or simply a friend reading over an essay. It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that any third-party proof reader has read and follows the University Proofreading Policy.

In short, the proof reader cannot amend a student's work by adding to or removing content, or by modifying content. The proof reader can highlight errors or mistakes but not correct them. More detail is provided in the table below.

Acceptable practices by proof readers	Unacceptable practices by proof readers
The University considers it acceptable for proof readers to identify, but not make corrections to: Common typographical, spelling or punctuation errors; formatting and layout errors and inconsistencies such as page numbers, line spacing, font size, headers and footers; grammatical and syntactical errors and anomalies; lexical repetition or omissions; sections of text where the meaning is ambiguous; minor formatting errors in referencing (for consistency and order); errors in the labelling of diagrams, charts and figures.	The University does not consider it acceptable practice for proof readers to amend existing content. Proof readers are not permitted to: Rewrite content where the meaning is ambiguous; Add to existing content; Alter the argument or logic where it is faulty; Re-arrange or re-order sentences to enhance the structure or argument; Implement or alter a referencing system or add to references; Check or correct facts, data calculations, formulae or equations; Translate text drafted by students, noting that this does not prohibit translation of source material as long as it is properly referenced.

https://warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/policies/v_proofreading

Extension Requests

Extensions to assessed work deadlines may be granted in exceptional circumstances such as ill health and/or incapacitating personal issues which are beyond your control and which are making it impossible to complete assessments. Unacceptable reasons for extensions include extra-curricular or elective activities, job interviews, work outside university, clashing deadlines and scheduling difficulties, computer issues, family plans, relationship issues, and non-medical reports of stress or low mood. The rationale for the extension should be specific and the evidence supporting it should be recent. All extension requests must be made before the published deadline, and must be supported by third-party evidence – usually a doctor's letter. Extension requests received later than this will only be considered in exceptional circumstances.

Requests for extensions should be made via Tabula (one for each assignment on each module site). You should state the reasons for your request and upload your supporting evidence. The request and evidence are only accessible to the Senior Tutor, the Director of Undergraduate Studies, and the Taught Programmes Officers. You may be invited to meet with your Director of Undergraduate Studies (DUGS) before a decision can be made, but if such a meeting is not thought necessary by the DUGS, then you will receive an email to advise whether or not an extension has been granted.

The usual maximum length of extension the department will allow is 14 days, but most will be shorter – and you should give a rationale for the number of days requested on the form. Please note that because of Exam Boards and other end-of-year requirements to formalise marks, no extensions for any submission will be granted beyond the end of the fifth week of term 3.

Late submission policy

Essays must be submitted electronically using Tabula by the stipulated deadline. Unless a formal extension has been granted, work received after the submission deadline will have the mark reduced by 5 percentage marks for each UK working day that the assignment is late (or part of a working day). For example, a late piece of work that would have scored 65% had it been handed in on time would be awarded 60 if it were one day late, 55 if two days late etc. Please note that the penalties will be incurred in 24-hour intervals from the deadline. Thus, when a deadline is specified as 12:00 noon, an assignment submitted the same day but at 12:00:01 pm or later will attract a 5-mark penalty. An essay arriving at 12:00:01 pm the day after will receive a 10-mark deduction and so on. Please bear in mind that these penalties are agreed at University level. Late penalties can only be waived in verified circumstances of illness or extreme personal difficulties, as detailed in the University's mitigating circumstances policy. It is therefore obviously important that you organise your time to take account of the very precise deadlines specified via the Tabula system: <http://tabula.warwick.ac.uk>. You are also advised to check after submitting your work to confirm it has been successfully uploaded, by viewing the Tabula submission receipt.

Technical problems will not normally be accepted as a reason for late submission and penalty marks will be incurred. You are strongly advised to submit your work in good time before the deadline to allow time to resolve any unexpected problems, considering the availability of technical support where needed. Backup your work regularly to reliable external storage! Should you experience technical problems whilst submitting your work online, you must contact the IT Helpdesk immediately to ensure you receive support to enable you to submit before the deadline has expired.

Please take EXTREME CARE when submitting your essays to Tabula and ensure you upload the correct version of your essay. If during the marking process it becomes apparent that an incorrect essay has been submitted, we will delete the incorrect submission and contact you to arrange to re-submit the correct essay. Work that has been re-submitted following the earlier submission of an incorrect piece of work will incur late penalties as outlined above or have its mark capped at 40% (whichever is higher). It is your responsibility to ensure that you submit the correct essay. Any error on your part may not be discovered for some time and as such may incur significant penalties. Please take care when you submit your essays – do not leave it until the last minute, and do double check all submissions!

Students should be aware that in accordance with departmental regulations they are required to retain electronic copies of all pieces of submitted assessed work until after the final exam board of their degree. Online university storage is available for this, and can be accessed at www.files.warwick.ac.uk

Departmental policies and guidance on writing essays and word-length

Throughout your years in the Department you will be required to write a number of essays. Some of these will be unassessed (or formative) essays which mean that any marks given for the work do not contribute to your final grade. However, most essays will be assessed (or summative) pieces of work, with marks counting towards your final grade. Both types of essay are important as they help you to develop your skills and improve your performance over the course. Formative essays are particularly critical in your first year and you should take every opportunity to hone your essay-writing skills before proceeding to Honours level.

Titles for essays are published six weeks before the submission deadline. You may have more than one essay due on the same day and should organize your time accordingly to make sure you can submit on time.

Use a computer to write your essay and use 12 point font. You must keep backup copies of your work until you graduate.

You are advised to write your essays using MLA conventions; if you choose another style format, please make sure you are consistent within the essay submitted.

All essays and dissertations must have a Bibliography or Works Cited. There should also be correct and full referencing of sources as in-text citation, as footnotes or as endnotes.

All essays have a required word-length. If you are unsure of the required word-length for an essay, please ask your tutor. Footnotes, endnotes, works cited, bibliographies and the essay title itself, are not included in the word-length; quotations are included in the word-length. You should write the number of words you have used at the end of your essay.

Markers will stop reading an essay once the word-length plus 10% has been reached. You will be penalised if you exceed the word-length plus or minus 10%. If you fall short of or exceed the 10%, you will incur one of the penalties below:

5 marks will be deducted for an essay that is between 10% and 15% over or under the required word-length.

10 marks will be deducted for an essay that is between 15% and 50% over or under the required word-length.

20 marks will be deducted for an essay that is more than 50% over or under the required word-length.

Examinations

The examination period is in term 3, beginning in week 4 and finishes in week 9. The examination timetable is published at the beginning of term 3. Examination days run from Monday through to Saturday.

Most examinations will be invigilated unseen papers. A few modules, however, opt for a seen paper. Details of these will be given to you by the tutor. Seen exam papers will be available 21 days before the examination. Papers are posted at:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/essay/exams/seenpapers1819summer/> or can be collected from the English Office during opening hours.

Please note: You may be penalised up to 20 marks from your overall exam mark if it is evident that you are in violation of the rubric of an exam paper.

For details of Materials Allowed in Examinations, please refer to the Regulation A, which can be found in the University's Senate Examination and Degree Conventions at: https://warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/policies/a_materials/

Past examination papers are available at <http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/exampapers> on the University's website.

University information about Examinations can be found at: <http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/academicoffice/examinations>

Departmental assessment strategy

The department offers a range of Honours modules and a variety of assessment methods. Some modules are 100% assessed by essay or extended project, some are assessed 100% by invigilated examination, and some are 50% assessment and 50% examination. Some modules use portfolios, logbooks, journals, commonplace books and online/digital projects as well as examinations and essays for assessment. Assessment methods for modules are approved in advance by University Committees, and staff members cannot change these over the course of an academic year.

Information about the University Assessment Strategy is at: <https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/assessmentstrategy>

Resit/remedying failure requirements

The pass mark for all undergraduate modules is 40. Information regarding the percentage weighting of each individual element of a module can be found on module websites. Where a module comprises more than one element of assessment, students in their first year must achieve a pass mark in each of the assessment elements in order to pass the module and proceed to the second year of the degree. If any individual element of a first year module is not passed at the first attempt, the First Year Board of Examiners will require the student to resit the failed element(s) only. All resit assessments and examination marks are capped at 40, but where a student has Mitigating Circumstances, they may be permitted to sit a failed assessment or examination as a first attempt, where the marks are not capped.

University Regulation 36.2, sets out general requirements and expectations in terms of progress, attendance and the completion of work. Full details of University Regulations and Conventions in relation to resits can be found in the following:

Regulation 12: Absence for Medical Reasons from a University Examination for First Degrees: <http://warwick.ac.uk/regulation12>

Undergraduate Degree Classification Rules:

<https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/conventions/ug13>

Undergraduate Progression Requirements for Intermediate Years of Study:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/conventions/ugprogression09>

Board of Examiners procedures

There are three Examination Boards, one each for first years, intermediate (second) years and finalists. The Examination Boards consider the performance of all students over the academic year and make a recommendation with regards to progression. The Finalist Examination Board recommends the final degree classification that should be conferred on each student.

Degree classification rules:

At the end of your degree, the results of your Honours-year modules are combined to determine your overall degree result: First, 2:1, 2:2, 3rd class, Pass, or fail. The rules that we use to determine your degree classification are described in the Honours degree classification convention, available here:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/examinations/conventions/ug13>

In addition, when considering students whose overall average mark falls below a class boundary but is within 2% of that boundary, the Exam Board will apply the following rules when deciding whether or not to promote the student to the higher class.

1. In cases where a student's average is within 1.0% of the higher class, the higher award will be made whenever at least one of the following conditions is met:

- a) the student has whole modules totalling 150 CATS or more at the higher class;
- b) the student has whole modules totalling 90 CATS or more at the higher class in their final year.

2. In cases where a student's average is within 2.0% of the higher class, but not within 1.0%, the higher award will be made whenever at least one of the following conditions is met:

- a) the student has whole modules totalling 180 CATS or more at the higher class;
- b) the student has whole modules totalling 120 CATS at the higher class in their final year.

In the absence of any of these conditions, the provisional classification will stand. Students with an overall average of 70.0% or higher will always be awarded a first, provided they meet the other necessary criteria in the university's Undergraduate Degree Classification Convention.

Results and Pass lists

All marks will be available to students to collect from an online repository after the meeting of the relevant Examination Board. First and second year pass lists indicate who is to proceed into the subsequent year. Finalist pass lists indicate degree classification. Results will not be revealed to friends or family. Please note that the English Office will NOT give out results verbally, by phone, or email.

You have the right of appeal against the decision of a final year Board of Examiners regarding the classification of degree awarded or a decision not to award a qualification. There are specific acceptable grounds for appeal. Please see:
<https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/sci/lifesci/intranet/guide/help/appeals>.

Mitigating Circumstances

What are Mitigating Circumstances?

During the course of study, you may experience exceptional unforeseen short-term circumstances which are outside your control and might have a detrimental effect on your studies. Please find a definition of possible short-term circumstances classified as mitigating circumstances in the table below. Please note that this list is not exhaustive. The purpose of mitigating circumstances is to inform exam boards about the circumstances in your life which may have affected your studies to allow them to take this into account when making decisions about your assessment, progression and degree classification. Mitigating circumstances cannot result in a change of marks for specific pieces of assessed coursework, exams, or modules. Equally, a successful mitigating circumstance case does not excuse you from assessment in any of your modules, and mitigating circumstances cannot be used to allow you resit assessment in order to improve your marks. For further information, including the possible outcomes of a mitigating circumstances submission at an exam board, please see the guidance on mitigating circumstances for students at https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/staffintranet/teachingsupport/mitigatingcircumstances/mc_guidance_for_students_final_300718.docx.pdf.

Applying for mitigating circumstances

If you would like to apply for mitigating circumstances you should, in the first instance, contact your Personal Tutor. They will be able to provide advice and support with your mitigating circumstances. It is important to contact your Personal Tutor as early as possible to ensure that appropriate support is put in place. You may also seek advice from the Senior Tutors. Additionally, you may wish to consult Wellbeing Services, Support Services, the Dean of Students Office, or one of the advisors at the Students' Union Advice Centre. Even if your circumstance is not eligible for consideration under mitigating circumstances, you should consider seeking support from the central university support services.

If you decide to make a mitigating circumstances application, you will be asked to submit a mitigating circumstances form to the Mitigating Circumstances Officer via our online form:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/mitigatingcircumstances>

With this application you must also submit at least one piece of relevant evidence. A list of relevant evidence relating to claim type is provided below. Joint Honours students MUST make their mitigating circumstances request to their home Department, unless it is an extension request for an individual piece of work which will have to be made to the Department owning the module.

Information provided by you is sensitive and will be treated confidentially and in line with General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). Any student who believes that the mitigating circumstances submission contains sensitive personal information and/or highly confidential evidence, may submit their mitigating circumstances marked “strictly confidential and for the attention of the Chair of the Mitigating Circumstances Panel only”. The information will be relayed by the Chair to the Mitigating Circumstances Panel (MCP) in each Department and/or Faculty without divulging the details of the sensitive nature of the information. Subsequently, the MCP will decide on the recommendations to be made to the Board of Examiners. Any further communications to other bodies (such as to Board of Examiners boards and/or module leaders) is ONLY permitted to list the type of mitigation agreed and reporting the appropriate grading of the MC submission AND NOT the details of the circumstances or any evidence or how it was assessed.

While it is acknowledged that you may be reluctant or not comfortable disclosing relevant information pertaining to private or sensitive issues or mental or physical health difficulties which are impacting on your academic progression, this cannot be used as an excuse not to do so. We cannot take into account circumstances that we are not told about. To ensure fairness to all students, it is your responsibility to fully disclose all relevant mitigating circumstances within the time frames laid down. Once marks have been officially released to you, it is too late to submit mitigating circumstances and retrospective applications. Consequently, mitigation where a student did not wish to raise their issues until they received their results, will not normally be considered or accepted. All applications for mitigating circumstances are treated confidentially, and only a small number of staff will sit on the panel which decides the outcome.

Mitigating Circumstance Panel

The Mitigating Circumstance Panel (MCP) meets in the summer term, before the meetings of the Boards of Examiners, to consider all applications made in the department. The Panel is made up of: the Head of Department or Deputy; the Examination Secretary; the Director of Undergraduate Studies; the Senior Tutor; the Mitigating Circumstances Officer, the Secretary to the MCP.

Deadlines

The deadlines for submitting mitigating circumstances forms are as follows:

First Year: Monday 10 June

Second Year & Third Year Intercalated Year: Thursday 20 June

Finalist: Tuesday 4 June

Definition of mitigating circumstances

Mitigating circumstances are defined as:

- Situations that you could not have predicted and had no control over (e.g. serious illness, death of someone close, being the victim of a crime, family difficulties and unforeseen financial hardship);
- Situations with significant impact on your ability to undertake assessments/examinations which are independently evidenced in a timely fashion; (e.g. doctor's note during illness showing duration and level of negative impact);
- Situations that are acute or short term, the timing of which are relevant to the impact on your study (normally within three weeks of the relevant assessment event or deadline).

In general terms, mitigating circumstances must be (a) significant (they have more than a minor impact on you), (b) unexpected (you must have had no prior knowledge of the event), (c) unpreventable (there was no reasonable steps you could have taken to prevent the event), (d) relevant (you must be able to link the event, and its impact on the period for which your claim is being made) and (e) corroborated (it must be independently verifiable and the evidence must meet the University requirements-see appendix A).

NOTE: Long term chronic conditions (normally greater than a term in duration and that are likely to be ongoing) and disabilities are dealt with under the reasonable adjustments (RA's) policy which can be viewed at:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/disability/howwecanhelp/>

Claims based on the following fall normally within the definition of mitigation circumstances (the list is not exhaustive):

- A significant deterioration of a permanent or chronic condition close to assessment (normally within three weeks of the assessment due) which you have already reported and is already covered by reasonable adjustments OR/IF the reasonable adjustments do not fully address the impact of the condition and still leave you at a disadvantage over others.
- Serious illness (physical or mental), accident or severe trauma at the time of the assessment or during the preparation for it.
- Death of someone close to you around the time of the assessment.
- Serious illness or accident (including significant caring responsibilities) of someone close to you at the time of the assessment.

- Significant change in employment circumstances beyond your control (part-time students only).
- Significant change in personal or unforeseen financial circumstances (e.g. divorce of student, fire, court appearance by student, acute accommodation crisis).
- Late diagnosis of a disability, including Specific Learning Difficulty (SpLD).
- Bullying, harassment or threatening behaviour.
- Victim of a crime or involvement in a criminal case (e.g. as a witness).

NOTE: This list is not exhaustive and if you feel that you want to report a claim for mitigating circumstances which is not listed above, but does in your opinion represent a mitigating circumstance, you should list the mitigating circumstances on your mitigating circumstances form and submit it for consideration. The department will seek advice from the Academic Director of Undergraduate Studies to ascertain if the mitigating circumstance falls within the definition of mitigating circumstances.

Claims based on the following would not normally be considered to fall within the definition of mitigating circumstances (the list is NOT exhaustive):

- Minor illnesses of relatives (unless you have substantial care or support responsibilities for the person).
- A permanent or chronic condition which you have already told us about and is covered by reasonable adjustments.
- Circumstances that do not relate to the assessment period in question unless independent evidence is provided which demonstrates the ongoing detrimental impact of a personal situation/medical condition. Minor illnesses, minor injuries (e.g. coughs, colds etc.) not requiring treatment from a qualified practitioner and that in a work situation would not normally lead to absence.
- Examination stress and anxiety, unless a flare-up of a pre-diagnosed illness/condition.
- Stress or symptoms of anxiety or low mood which do not meet the criteria or threshold for a diagnosis of an anxiety or mood disorder.
- Pressure of academic workload.
- Computer, printer or other IT failure.
- Temporary self-induced conditions, e.g. hangover.
- Travel disruption (e.g. traffic jams, delayed trains).
- Misreading or misinterpreting of an assessment title, assessment dates, time and deadlines.
- Claims submitted without independent supporting evidence.

- Assessment dates being clustered or close together unless there has been a specific recommendation for reasonable adjustments which includes spacing of assessment dates.
- Employment or other types of external work (unless due to hardship that could not be foreseen).
- Non-academic activities and events that can be planned (such as holiday, moving house, weddings, sporting events etc.) or that were foreseeable and preventable.
- Late disclosure of circumstances on the basis that the student did not feel comfortable submitting mitigating circumstances prior to the relevant Board of Examiners' meeting where marks are confirmed (i.e. only submitting mitigation after they have failed an assessment.)
- Staff absence due to illness or other unforeseen circumstance.
- Ignorance of the regulations or examination or assessment arrangements.

For guidance on the types of evidence required to support a mitigating circumstances application, please refer to the guidance on mitigating circumstances for students at https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/staffintranet/teachingsupport/mitigatingcircumstances/mc_guidance_for_students_final_300718.docx.pdf and see the table below:

Reasonable adjustments (including Special Exam Arrangements)

The Equality Act 2010 (<https://www.gov.uk/definition-of-disability-under-equality-act-2010>) requires the University to make reasonable adjustments where a candidate who is disabled (within the meaning of the Act), would be at a substantial disadvantage in comparison to someone who is not disabled.

'Substantial' is defined as 'more than minor or trivial' and that a disability (<https://www.gov.uk/definition-of-disability-under-equality-act-2010>) is defined as 'a physical or mental impairment that has a substantial and long-term negative effect on the ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities'.

Students who have long term chronic conditions or disabilities and who believe they are entitled to reasonable adjustments should in the first instance contact Disability Services or Mental Health and Wellbeing and request an appointment to discuss their support requirements: <https://warwick.ac.uk/services/supportservices>.

A reasonable adjustment may be unique to the individual and could include special examination arrangements, delayed deadlines but also alternative methods of assessments.

Any reasonable adjustments made are evidence-based; students are required to supply appropriate and recent medical evidence, or, in the case of a specific learning difference such as dyslexia or dyspraxia, a full diagnostic assessment. The type of appropriate evidence required can be discussed with Disability Services or Mental Health and Wellbeing.

Once a student has met with Wellbeing Support Services, the adviser will contact the student's department and the Examinations Office (with their permission) to recommend any specific adjustments.

Reasonable adjustment recommendations for examinations must be made before the annual deadlines as set out by the Examinations Office on the Disability Services website at: <https://warwick.ac.uk/services/disability/howwecanhelp/examinations>. Recommendations that are made AFTER these deadlines will be handled under the Mitigating Circumstance Policy.

Recommendations to apply reasonable adjustments may include for the student to be able to complete assessments via alternative assessment methods; bearing in mind that academic or professional standards in relation to core competencies and assessed criteria still need to be met.

Further information on disabilities and reasonable adjustments can also be accessed in the University's Disability Policy at: <https://warwick.ac.uk/services/qualops/disability/policy>

19. Pastoral care and support

Additional academic support

The English Department runs an Academic writing programme for first year students (for both students based in English and students on joint degrees not based in English) <https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/writingprog/academicwriting/english/>
<https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/writingprog/academicwriting/englishjointdegreeugprovision/>

Second year students, please also see the University's Year 2 toolkit: https://warwick.ac.uk/services/skills/help/year2_toolkit/

Information for international students on language support can be found at: <https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/fac/soc/al/study/learn-english/in-sessional/>

Personal tutoring system

Your personal tutor is a member of academic staff who is your first port of call for any academic and non-academic issues you experience during your degree. Your personal tutor can give you advice on applying for mitigating circumstances or reasonable adjustments to support your studies (including special exam arrangements). Your personal tutor will often, though not always change from year to year, and sometimes within the year (if your personal tutor has a term of research leave, for example). You can check who your personal tutor is on your TABULA profile. You are encouraged to meet with your personal tutor regularly, especially, but not only, if you have a specific issue that may need negotiation with the department. Your personal tutor may be consulted by administrative and academic staff on a number of matters regarding your progress. It is part of the Department's Monitoring Student Attendance and Progression Policy that you meet with your personal tutor.

Support and Personal Development

Please see the Student Support and Wellbeing website at:
<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/supportservices>

If you suffer from any specific learning difficulties, such as dyslexia, it is very important that you inform your personal tutor and contact Disability Services (<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/tutors/disability>) in order to put in place support arrangements you may need. If the department is not made aware of any difficulties via this process, your tutors cannot take them into consideration when assessing your work.

Careers and Skills

There is a designated Senior Careers Consultant, Anna Preston, who has extensive experience working with students from University of Warwick. Anna can be contacted by email via careers@warwick.ac.uk. Student Careers and Skills is located on the ground floor of University House. See <http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/about/visiting/maps/interactive/>. Anna runs appointments in University House and may also be able to see you in the department. Appointments can be made online: <https://myadvantage.warwick.ac.uk/>

Your department also has a Student Careers and Skills representative and a Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/WarwickEnglishCareers>

20. Student engagement

Student Staff Liaison Committee (SSLC)

The SSLC is organised and chaired by students, but academic staff are members of the committee. The student Chair and Secretary are always invited to the Teaching and Learning Committee (TALC), and SSLC feedback on issues discussed is provided to the Departmental Meeting as part of the TALC report. SSLC representatives may also attend the Departmental Meeting. This ensures that all the academic staff members are aware of any concerns and can discuss ways of addressing these. At the end of the year, the department's SSLC writes an annual report which is sent to the Teaching Quality department of the University where it is considered alongside all the other reports, so that the University as a whole is informed of the issues that concern our students.

The SSLC will not discuss personal problems nor will it discuss complaints about individual members of staff.

Your SSLC representatives will tell you much more about the SSLC. There is an SSLC notice board located between rooms H536 and H538 in the English Department.

The Students' Union SSLC page is at: <https://www.warwicksu.com/sslc/>

The Department and the University give careful consideration to the views of the students and there are a number of ways that you can pass your views on to the academic staff, some of which preserve your anonymity. You can provide feedback through Module Evaluation which is carried out at the end of Term, you can take part in the Warwick Student Survey, the National Student Survey, or you can email ugenglish@warwick.ac.uk.

Feedback from students contributes to the planning and monitoring of modules. You can make a direct impact on the way that modules are taught and organised by completing a module evaluation form. The feedback given by students is discussed by the department. This process can be completely anonymous, allowing you to be honest and fair in your feedback.

Complaints procedures

The Department adheres to the University's three stage Student Complaints Procedure:

Stage 1: Frontline / Local Resolution

Stage 2: Formal Departmental Investigation and Resolution

Stage 3: Formal Institutional Review and Final Resolution

For Stage 1, you should contact the Director of Undergraduate Studies – in person or by email – to register your complaint. You can find full details of the Student Complaints Procedure on the main university website here:

<https://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/feedbackcomplaints/students/complaints/>

21. Joint degrees

The joint English Literature and Creative Writing, English and Theatre Studies and English and History degrees are based in the English Department. Contacts details for the Convenors of these degrees are included in Section 5 'Roles within the Department'.

22. Library

The Library provides a very large number of resources for students in the department. You can use the Library Search on the webpage (<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/library/>) to find print and electronic books, and journal articles. For assignment research there are key electronic resources for English which give you access to secondary critical literature, such as journal articles, books, book chapters and dissertations, as well as to electronic primary texts and contemporary sources. 23. Study abroad/placement learning

Students following the department's degree courses have the opportunity to convert to a four year variant of the course in which the third year is spent studying abroad at one of the University's partner institutions in Europe, the U.S. or Asia.

During the year abroad, students continue to study along the path of their degree course and may choose to also study other courses not available at Warwick. Students are required to attain a pass standard in the work that they do whilst abroad, but the work does not count directly towards their overall Warwick degree classification. Students will continue to have the support of their Personal Tutor at Warwick whilst abroad. Participating in the exchange requires students to pay half-fees for their year abroad.

For further information on the intercalated year abroad, please refer to the following website:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/english/currentstudents/undergraduate/calexchange>

Appendix A: Monitoring Points

In order to ensure that students are actively engaging with, and progressing on, their course of study the Department of English and Comparative Literary Studies, in line with the revised University Good Practice Guide on Monitoring Student Attendance and Progress, the department has established a monitoring points scheme by which a student's performance during the academic year will be assessed.

Where a student misses three of the 'monitoring points' the Academic Office will write to the student and the department will receive a copy of this e-mail. The department is required to investigate with the student what problems they may be experiencing, to support their full engagement with the course and to explain the consequences of missing further monitoring points. Departments may decide that they wish to initiate such discussions before three 'monitoring points' are missed. Where four 'monitoring points' are missed, it is likely that a student's problems are such that they should be encouraged to seek advice and support from the Department or University Senior Tutor. Where a student misses five 'monitoring points' it is likely that the student is at risk of imminent withdrawal or failure, so appropriate action should be taken immediately.

Where a student has missed six formal 'monitoring points' in one academic year the Academic Office will notify the Director of Graduate/Undergraduate Studies that the student should be referred to the Continuation of Registration Committee as set out in University Regulation 36 - Governing Student registration, attendance and progress. The department will be given an opportunity to present any reasons why such a referral might not be appropriate. The department may wish to seek advice on this from their Faculty Board Secretary or the Academic Office. The Department will receive copies of correspondence sent to the student at this point.

Where a student has missed eight formal 'monitoring points' in one academic year the Department or the Academic Registrar will need to invoke the process outlined in University Regulation 36 - Governing Student registration, attendance and progress.

For further information, please see:

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/aro/dar/quality/categories/attendance/what/>

For further information regarding the process for Regulation 36, please see:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/gov/calendar/section2/regulations/reg36registrationattendanceregress/>

International students should be particularly aware of the consequences of missing contact points: the Academic Office is obliged to report to the Home Office UK Visas and Immigration (formerly the UK Border Agency) if any Tier 4 students have been found not to be engaging with and attending their degree course. This will normally lead to the curtailment of their visas.

The monitoring point scheme for undergraduate students is as follows and students are reminded that attendance at all lectures and seminars during the course of the term is compulsory.

The following scheme applies to all of the following students where applicable:

- Q300 English Literature students
- Q301 English Literature students with Intercolated Year
- QP36 English Literature & Creative Writing
- QP37 English Literature & Creative Writing with Intercolated Year
- QW34 English Literature & Theatre Studies

- QW35 English Literature & Theatre Studies with Intercalated Year
- VQ32 English & History

Appendix D: Procedures in the event of suspected cheating

The University makes a distinction between poor academic practice and cheating.

A decision of poor academic practice will be made in cases of work deemed to have been improperly referenced through the incompetent or careless academic practices of the student, but where there is no attempt to deceive the marker. For example, it would be poor academic practice if a secondary text had been used verbatim and cited in the assignment, but not put in quotation marks.

In cases of poor academic practice, marks are not deducted from the work; instead those marks are not earned under the existing departmental marking criteria. In such cases, the work will be awarded a mark that reflects its academic worth according to the marking criteria. The student will be advised in their assignment feedback that the assignment was improperly referenced due to poor scholarship and the student will be advised to meet with their personal tutor to receive further guidance on correct referencing techniques.

Cheating is a much more serious offence, because it involves the intention to deceive the marker in order to gain an advantage in an assessment. The overwhelming majority of our students do not cheat. In order to protect the work of the honest majority, the department and the University have established strict rules to enable the investigation of cases of suspected cheating.

Procedure for identifying and investigating suspected cheating

If the member of staff marking your work has concerns about suspected cheating, the following procedure will be adopted.

Stage 1: The Marker

If the marker believes that an assignment is an example of poor academic practice, that assignment will be marked according to the departmental marking criteria. However, if the marker is unsure as to whether the assignment is an instance of poor academic practice or a case of suspected cheating, the marker passes the assignment to the Module Convenor for further investigation.

Stage 2: The Module Convenor

At this stage, the Module Convenor examines the assignment and decides whether this is a case of poor academic practice, suspected cheating or neither (no case to answer). If the Module Convenor believes that the assignment is an example of poor academic practice, or if there is no case to answer, then the assignment is returned to the marker to be marked according to departmental marking criteria.

However, if the Module Convenor is unsure as to whether or not the assignment is a case of poor academic practice, or if the Module Convenor suspects that cheating has occurred, then the assignment is passed to the department's Academic Conduct Panel for further investigation.

Stage 3: The Academic Conduct Panel

At this stage, the student will be sent an email informing them that their assignment is under investigation. The Academic Conduct Panel examines the assignment. If they conclude that this is a case of poor academic practice, or if they find that there is no case to answer, the assignment is returned to the Module Convenor for appropriate marking.

If the Academic Conduct Panel is unsure as to whether this is a case of poor academic practice or a case of cheating, they will ask the student to produce a written statement. If, after reading the statement, the Academic Conduct Panel decides that this is a case of poor academic practice, or that there is no case to answer, the assignment is returned to the Module Convenor for appropriate marking. However, if, after reading the statement, the Academic Conduct Panel believes that there is evidence of cheating, they will refer the matter to the Head of Department.

The Academic Conduct Panel may, in rare cases where it suspects that an essay has been written to order, ask the student to attend a 'viva' on the essay, that is, an interview to discuss the contents of the essay and its sources.

Stage 4: The Head of Department

At this stage, the Head of Department will provide the student with a reasonable opportunity to make representations on his or her own behalf. The Head of Department will then determine whether an offence has occurred.

If cheating has occurred, the Head of Department will determine the penalty, and the student will be informed of the outcome in a letter copied to the module Convenor, the Director of Undergraduate Studies, and the student's Personal Tutor. The student will also be informed that he or she has a right to appeal against the decision to an Investigating Committee of the Senate, in accordance with the University regulations. The possible penalties are:

- A reduction in mark for the piece of work in which the plagiarism has occurred (with or without the opportunity to resubmit or undertake a further assessment). The mark may be reduced to zero.
- Re-submission of the original work with revised referencing, for a capped mark.
- Re-submission of a new piece of work for a reduced or capped mark.

If the student accepts the penalty, the outcome is reported to the Examination Board, and a report of the circumstances and penalty imposed will be recorded in our plagiarism files. If the student appeals, the matter is referred to a University Investigating Committee (as in the University Calendar, Regulation 11, Section B, paragraphs 5-9). If the Head of Department determines that this is a case of severe cheating, then the matter is referred to an Investigating Committee of the Senate. Examples of cases that will usually be referred include:

- Second offences of cheating;
- Allegations relating to an assessment that contributed to the previous approval of an award to the student;

- Where the penalty imposed would potentially result in the student being ineligible to qualify for the award for which they are registered;
- Where there are multiple allegations of cheating, against the same student, which if proven would result in the student being ineligible to qualify for the award for which they are registered;
- Where the case is complex, for example involving allegations of collusion against two or more students.

In the event of the case being confirmed as a severe case of cheating the student will be informed that their case has been referred to an Investigating Committee of the Senate in a letter copied to the module Convenor, the Director of Undergraduate Studies, and the student's Personal Tutor. The student will be provided with information relating to Regulation 11, Section B, paragraphs 5-9 of the University Calendar.

Where cheating is discovered in one assignment, the Department may check the student's earlier assignments for similar offences. If further instances are identified and proven, penalties may be applied retrospectively. Repeat cases will normally be referred to an Investigating Committee of Senate.

Please note that this procedure is also outlined as a flow-chart on the following page.
