The Cambridge History of Latin America

The Cambridge History of Latin America is the first authoritative work covering the Caribbean (and Haiti), Spanish South America and Brazil, from sixteenth centuries to the present day. An important feature of the series is that essays from Volumes I–IX, revised and updated, are brought to the attention of the reader.

SUBJECT TO GENERAL DECLASSIFICATION
SCHEDULE OF EXECUTIVE ORDER 11652
AUTOMATICALLY DOWNGRADED AT TWO
YEAR INTERVALS AND DECLASSIFIED ON DEC. 31, 1998

Mr. Johnson outlined the alternatives being evaluated by the work group for improving our program in four areas: (1) at border ports of entry and airports; (2) land smuggling between ports of entry; (3) air smuggling; and (4) boat smuggling. In addition, he outlined alternatives being looked at which cut across all aspects of the problem and re-emphasized the importance of improving "post-arrest immobilization," as stressed in the white paper.

The CIA representative asked if the work group was perhaps misdirecting its efforts by concentrating on the border in light of the difficulty of detecting drugs amid the enormous volume of vehicles and persons crossing the border. Mr. Parsons acknowledged the difficulty of interdicting at the border, and said that the work group was attempting to develop recommendations dealing with all three parts of the system: within Mexico, at the border, and within the interior United States. Mr. Johnson said that the work group was particularly impressed by the inter-relationship of these three aspects, and was looking for ways to improve each so that the overall effort would be optimized.

The following material was gathered and prepared by the North American Congress on Latin America (NACLA) in the course of putting together a pamphlet on the current Mexican situation. The list of US universities and corporations involved in Mexico is tentative but is included to encourage research on the local level. A full list of universities, corporations and non-profit organizations involved in Mexico will appear in the finished pamphlet along with a series of eyewitness accounts and analytical articles. It should be ready in approximately two weeks and can be obtained from the North American Congress on Latin America, Box 37, Cathedral Station, New York, New York, 10023.

CONTENTS

1. American Universities Involved in Mexico (Preliminary List)
2. Major US Corporations Involved in Mexico (Preliminary List)
3. Mexico: New Outbreak of the Student Rebellion, by A. Demeris
4. Report from Mexico, anonymous (first hand report)
5. Border Patrol U.S. Firm Open Effects Across Mexican Line by Steve Zborer Castro, from The Wall Street Journal, May 25, 1968
