Supply chain thought leaders include

Andrew New
Chief Executive Officer
NHS Supply Chain

Andrew joined NHS Supply Chain as CEO in 2021 and has focussed on leading the organisation with a new purpose and strategy as well as enhancing its critical capabilities to deliver a broad range of value to the NHS. He has extensive experience in business transformation programme leadership, total lifecycle cost management, customer and supplier engagement and deploying technology to optimise business operational performance.

Cyril Pourrat
Founder and Chairman
BT Sourced

Cyril has established BT Sourced, a standalone procurement company, drawing on the best technology and people to speed up and simplify the way we manage BT Group's third party spend worldwide. He created the Digital Procurement Garage, rapidly digitising our procurement organisation to implement best of breed technologies, and working collaboratively with UK start-ups to co-develop products that help us stay ahead of the competition.

With the main focus on industrial practices and research-led innovation, the forum's purpose is to offer innovative insights, engage in inspiring talks, share knowledge and best practices to address key supply chain challenges across industries, promote networking and collaboration to support supply chain, procurement, sustainability, and logistics leaders.

Peter Robertshaw BOE
Partner
Tata Consultancy Services

Peter Robertshaw has been in TCS for approaching 11 years after a period with CSC and 34 years in the British Army. He has almost 50 years of engineering, supply chain, operational and change management experience. He is a chartered mechanical and electrical engineer and supply chain specialist and has experience of driving transformational change in IT, training, HR, and cost reduction across a wide range of environments.

Kerry Kirwan
Deputy Pro-VC
University of Warwick

Kerry Kirwan is a Deputy Pro-Vice Chancellor (Research) for the University of Warwick, a Trustee of The Alan Turing Institute and a Professor at WMG. He is the Director of the £11m EPSRC Centre for Doctoral Training in Sustainable Materials and Manufacturing (EngD), Strategic Director of the £10m Industrial Doctorate Centre and Head of the Sustainable Materials and Manufacturing Research Group within WMG.

Dr. Giuliana Battisti
Professor
University of Warwick

Giuliana Battisti is an esteemed economist specialising in the Economics of Innovation. In addition to her academic roles, Giuliana is extensively involved in various advisory and research capacities. She co-leads/directs the University of Warwick Productivity and the Futures of Work GRP and is a member of the National Statistical Advisory Group. She has also provided guidance and conducted research for numerous governmental and private organizations globally.

Dr. Heiko Gierhardt

She spent 14 years in consultancy working across sectors including aerospace, defence, retail, logistics and automotive, both in front line manufacturing and support services.

Chris Andrews
Digital Supply Chain Partner
Ernst & Young

Chris Andrews is a Partner at consulting firm EY and an alumnus of WMG. He has spent the past two decades leading supply chain transformation with multinational companies in the consumer products and retail sector, collaborating with them to solve their most complex supply chain and procurement challenges. He leads EY's Digital Supply Chain practice, utilising advanced technologies to enable his clients to achieve a step change in performance.

Alok Choudhary
Head of Supply Chain Group
University of Warwick

Dr Alok Choudhary is a Professor of Supply Chain Management and the Head of Supply Chain Group at WMG. His research has engaged industries from various sectors and tackled challenges related to sustainability, resilience and digital transformation in supply chain and logistics. His research has delivered significant impacts on businesses, policymakers and society.

Christophe Philippart
Vice President
Resilinc

Christophe Philippart is the VP for Resilinc in the EMEA region where he helps companies on their journey to Operational Resilience with the support of a European team and an ecosystem of partners. Christophe has participated in or managed the starting up of several businesses. Hence, he launched Lamasoft operations in continental Europe and then was VP of Southwest Europe.

Martin Barrow
Director
The Carbon Trust

Martin is one of the world's leading authorities on the carbon footprinting of products, services and value chains, having headed the Carbon Trust's work in these areas since 2007. His experience includes the development of the PAS 2050 methodology and the launch of the world's first carbon footprint label.

Welcome

Who should attend?

- Supply chain industry leaders
- Manufacturing and engineering businesses part of UK supply chains
- Government and policy makers with supply chains in their focus
- Supply chain research leads
- Businesses looking to improve and understand their supply chain
- Anyone with knowledge or interest in continuing to move towards a net zero supply chain

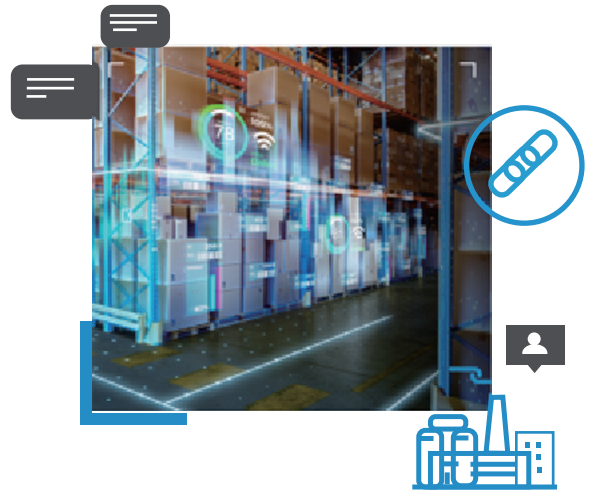

What will you get out of it?

Together, we will explore the big solutions and strategies needed for the next generation of resilient and net-zero supply chains.

By joining us, you will:

- Engage with leading practitioners, thought leaders, academics and peers focusing on the most impactful trends and innovations in addressing challenges related to supply chain resilience and transitioning to a net zero supply chain.
- Share collective experience, knowledge, and best practices from across sectors. Synthesize knowledge and perspectives to identify research and innovation opportunities.
- Network, collaborate and identify opportunities with the subject-matter experts across business, government, and innovators.
- Witness first-hand showcasing and launch of innovative research at WMG to address supply chain challenges.

This captivating, forum-style event will offer innovative insights, share knowledge & best practice, debate emerging trends and key challenges facing our industry on its journey to de-risking and de-carbonizing its supply chains.

“SCiP (now Supply Chain Innovation Forum) provides us an excellent, and in some ways, unique opportunity to benchmark our supply chain management capability. On the face of it we might appear to be a disparate group but it is my expectation that despite the differences in our operating contexts we will benefit hugely from each other’s experience, knowledge and insight in exploring and revising approaches to common challenges.”

Andy Chappell, Head of Supply Chain Capability - Marine & Technology, Babcock International Group

Alok Choudhary
 Head of Supply Chain Group
 University of Warwick
