

I would like to be a first year course representative for liberal arts because I believe that it is vital for students doing this degree to feel confident and comfortable with the degree. If not, then students will be able to consult me about any concerns or give feedback about the course content because I am approachable, caring and will provide adequate guidance. For example, if some students indicated to me that the liberal arts skills events should include more career help and vice versa, I would be sure to raise this issue with the SSLC and whoever else it may concern so that their needs could be met.

Due to its interdisciplinary nature, liberal arts is the ideal course for people with a wide range of interests. But it is still widely unknown in the UK and there a lot of misconceptions about it. Thus, as a course representative I would like to make Liberal Arts more well known as a course in order to encourage more prospective students to apply for this course. I also believe being socially aware is very important for liberal arts students. Therefore, as a course representative I would also like to introduce a new programme where any liberal arts student can propose a campaign for an issue which they feel passionately about.
