thinking with AI?

No slow bit, no you.

No voice, no writer.

No feedback, no one who sees you.

No weirdness, no dissent.

No teaching, only delivery.

No question, no future worth preparing for.

No cost named, someone else pays it.

No attention, nothing left for you.

No frontier, no need for you.

No work, nothing that was yours.

No becoming, nobody.

So — what next?
