Questions to ask when Co-Creating

Have you shared your principles / values and allowed for compromise?

How are you making the space feel safe and comfortable?

Are there opportunities to discuss and understand different perspectives?

Is there a recognition of inherent power differences between staff and students?

How is this co-creation? What are your intentions? Why are you using co-creative pedagogy?

Does the space encourage free dialogue, communication and feedback amongst all parties?

What active and innovative steps are you taking to create authentic relationships?

Have you built an ethos of co-creation into all aspects of your practise? From relationships to the work and conceptualisations to outputs?
