MITN Postgraduate and Early Career Researchers

Newsletter n°3, March 31 2016

Welcome to our third MITN PG/ECR newsletter. Developments continue with our two clusters - below is information about the first reading group that was held by the 'City, Space and Place' cluster, and updated information on the 'Performing narratives' cluster. In addition are upcoming events, CFPs and some congratulations!
If you would like us to publish something for you in the next newsletter, please send it to us by the 22nd of April.

Best wishes,
Jessica and Gioia

MITN Website Update

MITN is in the process of updating their main website, hosted by Warwick. One priority is to increase the visibility of the PG/ECR activities. Further updates to follow, but please note the following:

There is a page for PG/ECR profiles. This is designed to help you search for other MITN members who might be interested in collaborating on a project or a cluster. Please email us if you would like to have your profile

Funding Opp

The deadline for applications is April 11

The Monash/Warwick Alliance is offering funding for student projects 'that seek to integrate the student bodies of both universities' by organising academic events, cultural and intercultural activities or skills development events. If you have a current project that might fit this profile, or a project idea you'd like to develop, see more details here (for Warwick students) and here (for Monash students).

Projects

Collaborative Translation

A group of MITN PG/ECRs are building a new research project about collaborative translations. The project explores how two or more participants with complimentary skill sets can collaboratively share functions of the translation process. The model will be tested through case studies drawn from ongoing research undertaken by PG/ECRs at Monash and Warwick, and it will then be applied as a working method in a variety of professional, community-based and academic contexts.

The current areas of focus include:

- Literary translation (Chris Griffiths for the

'Performing Narratives' Cluster

Watch this space! The first cluster event will be held around May 2016.

This cluster adopts a broad understanding of the concepts of performance and narrative. It aims to incorporate theatre and performance studies; narrative and performative analysis through interviews, ethnography, literary or creative research methodologies; the location of narrative and performance in media, cultural, project Shakespeare and translation, and

Research Clusters

Is there an area of research related to migration, identity and/or translation that you would like to explore with other postgraduates and early career researchers?
Email us with your ideas and we will publish an Expression of Interest!

Congrats!

To our MITN/Warwick colleagues Liam Lewis and Gianmarco Mancosu, who were among the winners of the Warwick HRC Doctoral Fellowship Competition. Have a look at the conferences they will (co-)organize: Bodies in Flux and Trespassing the Borders respectively.
