

Jane Armes

University of the Sunshine Coast, Australia

Dr Jane Armes qualified in Medicine from the University of Nottingham, UK, in 1983 and began her training in diagnostic histopathology at St Mary's Hospital London. She was awarded a PhD from the University of London in 1992 after which she emigrated to Australia. She gained her Fellowship of The Royal College of Pathologists of Australasia in 1992. Since then she has combined a career of diagnostic histopathology with pathology-based research and had published more than 100 journal articles. She has held several academic positions, including Clinical Professor of Pathology at The University of Sydney. In recent years she has relocated to The University of the Sunshine Coast, Queensland, where she is the Clinical Director of Pathology.

