Hakim Benkirane

CentraleSupelec, Gif-sur-Yvettes, France

Hakim is a third year PhD student working with CentraleSupelec and Gustave Roussy institute on applying Ai to precision medicine. His field of expertise focuses on conceiving robust and interpretable deep-learning based methods for the integration of multimodal data for precision oncology, with a particular emphasis on multi-omics data and histopathology slides.