Dr. Zhi Huang

Stanford University, Stanford, USA

Zhi Huang is a postdoctoral fellow at Stanford University. In August 2021, He received a Ph.D. degree from Purdue University, majoring in Electrical and Computer Engineering (ECE). Prior to that, he received his Bachelor of Science degree in Automation (BS-MS direct entry class) from Xi'an Jiaotong University School of Electronic and Information Engineering. His background is in the area of Artificial Intelligence, Digital Pathology, and Computational Biology. From May 2019 to August 2019, he was at Philips Research North America as a Research Intern.