

Greetings from the 2016/17 Team!

October is upon us again; meaning the start of a new academic year and of course - a new WUSAT team here at the University of Warwick.

After a successful handover from the 2015/16 team, we will now be guiding the WUSAT-3 project through its second phase of development. The new team consists of Dr. Bill Crofts, 7 final year Engineering Students, as well as 3 PhD alumni of the WUSAT project.

From now until June 2017 we're going to be building on the previous team's work towards a proposal for the ESA's "Fly Your Satellite" scheme with plans to begin prototyping and validating systems.

And last but not least, we'd like to end this newsletter by thanking you all for your continued support and interest in the WUSAT project.

Regards,

The WUSAT-3
2016/17
Team
