Prof Georgia Kremmyda

Professor at the School of Engineering, University of Warwick

- Co-chair of Global Research Priority Sustainable Cities
- Co-chair Institutional Athena Swan SAT
- STEM Grand Challenges Education Lead
- 2021-2023 Elected Board Director and Vice President Conferences, International Network of Women Engineers and Scientists

Moderator: Dr Jenny Spiga

Assistant professor at the University of Warwick and Project researcher

- Assistant Professor at the Department of Physics in Warwick since 2017
- Main research interests in the area of Medical Physics
- Collaborates with the biomedical group ID17 of the European Synchrotron Radiation Facility (ESRF) in Grenoble (France)
- Contributed to research projects on Microbeam Radiation Therapy (MRT), Cone CT Breast Imaging and on the application of X-ray microbeams in the treatment of epilepsy
- Supervised a number of students' projects on both Radiotherapy and Imaging.

Reimagining a STEM Research Culture: Lessons Learnt from 20 years of Evolution for Inclusive Representation in Science and Engineering

- Collaboration University of Warwick (Prof. Georgia Kremmyda) and INWES
- Bring people together by encouraging collaboration and teamwork
- Share experiences, mindsets, attitudes and insights on diversity and inclusion in STEM research and innovation
- 10 webinars (2 per region – MENA, ARN, Europe, Asia and Pacific, Americas) - March to July + final webinar to celebrate 20th anniversary of INWES
- Analyse and discuss policies, initiatives, projects and interventions that are currently in place and delivered across the world for equitable and inclusive access and participation in STEM academia and industry

Speaker 1

Emerita Professor Colette Guillope

Université Paris-Est Créteil, Vice President of EPWS

- Mathematician and having undergone a dual career of researcher and teacher, she has been successively president of the French associations femmes et mathématiques (Women and Mathematics) and Femmes & Sciences (Women and Science). She has also been in charge of parity in her university for 5 years. In 2011, she contributed to the creation of the association CPED (Standing Conference of Officers for Equality and Diversity in Higher Education and Research Institutions), which today has as members more than 80 institutions of higher education in France.
- Member of the Board of Administration of the European Platform of Women Scientists for 3 years, she is vice president since 2021. Her expertise is geared toward the promotion of girls and women in fields where they are very few and also deals with gender-based violence in higher education and research, i.e. one of the reasons women may drop out of these fields.

Speaker 2

Dr Helen Marsh

Daphne Jackson Trust

- Helen was appointed Trust Manager in 2018 after previously working at the Trust since 2013 as a Fellowship Advisor. She works closely with Katie Perry, Chief Executive, and the team, to manage the processes relating to the award of new and existing Fellowship sponsorship arrangements.
- Helen has a strong background in research, having held positions at Imperial College London, the Health Protection Agency and the Pirbright Institute. Helen obtained a degree in Molecular and Cellular Biochemistry from the University of Oxford and holds a DPhil in infectious diseases at the Weatherall Institute of Molecular Medicine, also from the University of Oxford.

Speaker 3
