

People from Black African Diaspora Communities are not well represented in health and social care research.