Research Jobs in Industry for Psychology PhDs

We welcome Dr Cai Guo to our PGR Careers seminar series! Dr Guo obtained his PhD at Stanford University and currently works for Goldman Sachs in the USA.

A research-based psychology PhD degree is not limited to academia but is in high demand in industry. This talk will feature a 10-15 min presentation on different types of jobs in industry that are particularly relevant for psych PhDs, followed by a discussion and Q&A section that provide a deep dive into various topics such as what it's like to have a research career in industry, how to prepare for a research job in industry, and the pros and cons of working in academia vs. industry.

Superb-Vision Network Workshops

The Superb-Vision Network is a new project that aims to bring together a diversity of doctoral students from different disciplinary backgrounds to share their supervision experiences: stories, challenges, successes and resources!

As doctoral students at Warwick, we are excited to be initiating such a network with the sponsorship of Warwick Doctoral College. Join us for a series of face to face and online networking events in term 2 to explore how to develop a productive relationship with your supervisor; what to do if something goes wrong; and what support is available. This is a great opportunity to connect with doctoral students from across the university and learn how to take a proactive, empowering stance in making your supervision superb!

Find out more about the network in this short video: tinyurl.com/superbvision-video

Forum for Leaders of Inclusive Cultures - Diversity in Tech

Monday 7 February 2022, 11am - 12pm, Microsoft Teams Live Event.

Diversity is one of the biggest challenges facing the tech industry today. Based on the latest figures available, women made up only 19% of the UK IT industry, Black, Asian, and Minority Ethnic (BAME) people 15.2%, and disabled people 9%. Now more than ever we must drive solutions to diversity and inclusion in technology.

Join us for this free event where our panel will discuss their work and how organisations can build truly diverse and inclusive cultures in tech industries. All are welcome to attend - staff, students, and anyone outside Warwick interested in learning more about inclusive leadership.
