The South Asian Christian diaspora is largely invisible in the literature about religion and migration. This is the first comprehensive study of South Asian Christians living in Europe and North America, presenting the main features of these diasporas, their community histories and their religious practices. The authors present a great variety of Christian traditions. The South Asian Christian diaspora is pluralistic both in terms of religious adherence, cultural tradition and geographical areas of origin. This book gives justice to this pluralism and presents a multiplicity of cultures and traditions typical of the South Asian Christian diaspora. Issues such as the institutionalization of the religious traditions in new countries, identity, the paradox of belonging both to a minority immigrant group and a majority religious community, the social functions of rituals, attitudes to language, generational transfer, and marriage and family life, are all discussed.

Contents: Preface; Introduction: making an invisible diaspora visible, Knut A. Jacobsen and Selva J. Raj; Part 1 Europe: South Asian Christians in the UK, Eleanor Nesbitt; Religion as an arena for the expression of identity. Roman Catholic Pondicherrians in France, Brigitte Sébastia; The 70th anniversary of ‘John Matthew’: on ‘Indian Christians in Germany, Urmila Goel; Seeking the blessing of the consolatrix afflictorum: the annual pilgrimage of Sri Lankan Tamils to the Madonna in Kevelaer (Germany), Brigitte Luchesi; Perpetuating religious and social concepts in the extended motherland: Tamil Christians in Berne (Switzerland), Damaris Lüthi; Creating Sri Lankan Tamil Catholic space in the South Asian diaspora in Norway, Knut A. Jacobsen; Goans and Damanians in Portugal: an overview of a singular diaspora, Helena Maria Mauricio C. Sant’ana; Surinamese East Indian Christians in the Netherlands, Freek L. Bakker; Part 2 North America: The culture of Asian Indian Catholicism in North America, Elizabeth Cameron Calbraith; New land, new challenges: the role of religion in the acculturation of Syro-Malabar Catholics in Chicago, Selva J. Raj; Indian Christians and marriage patterns, Farha Terniker; Doing friendship, making contacts, and building trust: Christian Indian responses to religious diversity, Nori Henk; From Hinduism to Christianity, from India to New York: bondage and exodus experiences in the lives of Indian Dalit Christians in the diaspora, Rachel Fell McDermott; Conclusion: South Asian Christians in the West, Raymond Brady Williams; Index.

Includes 14 b&w illustrations

Sample pages for published titles are available to view online at: www.ashgate.com

To order, please visit: www.ashgate.com
All online orders receive a discount

Alternatively, contact our distributor:
Bookpoint Ltd, Ashgate Publishing Direct Sales,
130 Milton Park, Abingdon, Oxon, OX14 4SB, UK
Tel: +44 (0)1235 827730  Fax: +44 (0)1235 400454
Email: ashgate@bookpoint.co.uk

December 2008
284 pages
Hardback
978-0-7546-6261-7
£55.00
This Title is also available as an EBook.
ISBN 978-0-7546-9254-6

Now available from Ashgate Publishing…

South Asian Christian Diaspora
Invisible Diaspora in Europe and North America

Edited by Knut A. Jacobsen, University of Bergen, Norway and Selva J. Raj, formerly Albion College, USA

‘The need for this book on South Asian Christians in the diaspora is long overdue. This is a very valuable source of information for anyone who wishes to draw some general conclusions about Indian Christians in the diaspora.’ – Paul Younger, McMaster University, Canada

‘The editors have produced a landmark study on a neglected but important subject. A new trend has been set on the basis of impressive scholarship that will create deeper understanding of social, religious and cultural diasporic identity.’ – Julius Lipner, University of Cambridge, UK

The South Asian Christian diaspora is largely invisible in the literature about religion and migration. This is the first comprehensive study of South Asian Christians living in Europe and North America, presenting the main features of these diasporas, their community histories and their religious practices. The authors present a great variety of Christian traditions. The South Asian Christian diaspora is pluralistic both in terms of religious adherence, cultural tradition and geographical areas of origin. This book gives justice to this pluralism and presents a multiplicity of cultures and traditions typical of the South Asian Christian diaspora. Issues such as the institutionalization of the religious traditions in new countries, identity, the paradox of belonging both to a minority immigrant group and a majority religious community, the social functions of rituals, attitudes to language, generational transfer, and marriage and family life, are all discussed.