

“Researching Gender in Contexts of Conflict”

Seminar-Workshop for Students and Staff

- Date: Friday 24th February 2012
- Time: 11:00 a.m. – 2:00 p.m.
- Place: Wolfson Research Exchange, Seminar Room 1, 3rd Floor Library (across the bridge)
- Led by: Afiya Zia, feminist activist and scholar from Pakistan and Visiting Research Fellow at the Institute of Advanced Studies, Warwick University

Using examples and experiences of researching conflict, Afiya Zia will lead a seminar-workshop on how feminist research in different contexts of conflict can be carried out. A number of questions relating to the study of gender as a dimension of conflict will be discussed. How is conflict gendered? How is the construction of victims and perpetrators of conflict and violence gendered? These are among the questions to be posed.

Food and drink will be available

Everyone is welcome and entrance is free. Please contact Khursheed Wadia to register: Khursheed.Wadia@warwick.ac.uk
