- Multidisciplinary, broad coverage (no clear selection criteria)
- Simple search engine (lacks advanced database functionality)

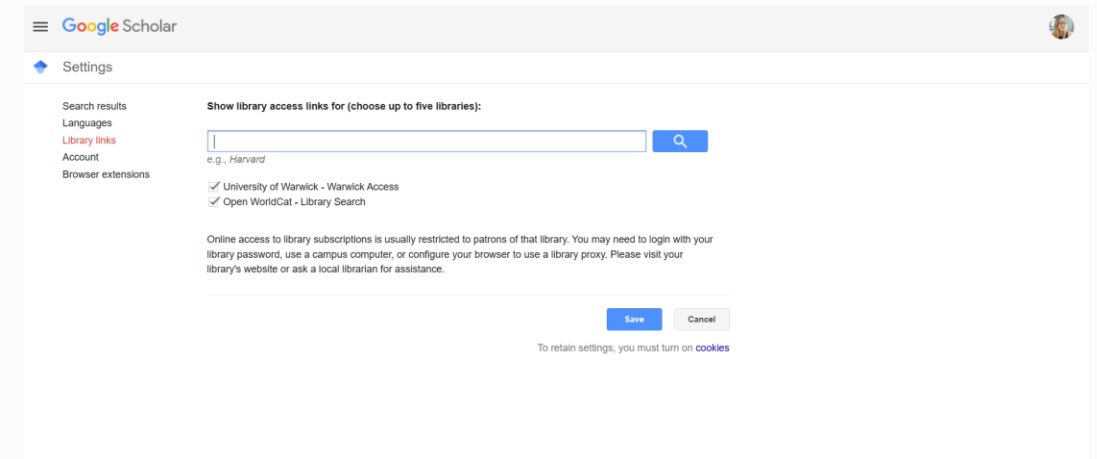

Advanced Search

The screenshot shows the Google Scholar interface with the 'Advanced search' dialog box open. The dialog box has a title bar with a close button and a search icon. It contains several sections for refining search results:

- Find articles
 - with all of the words: [text input]
 - with the exact phrase: [text input]
 - with at least one of the words: [text input]
 - without the words: [text input]
 - where my words occur:
 - ☒ anywhere in the article
 - ☐ in the title of the article
- Return articles authored by: [text input] (e.g., "PJ Hayes" or McCarthy)
- Return articles published in: [text input] (e.g., J Biol Chem or Nature)
- Return articles dated between: [text input] — [text input] (e.g., 1996)

Library Links

The screenshot shows the Google Scholar 'Settings' page. The 'Library links' section is active, showing a list of libraries with checkboxes for linking. The 'Show library access links for (choose up to five libraries):' section is visible, with a search bar and a list of libraries:

- ☒ University of Warwick - Warwick Access
- ☒ Open WorldCat - Library Search

Below the list, there is a note: "Online access to library subscriptions is usually restricted to patrons of that library. You may need to login with your library password, use a campus computer, or configure your browser to use a library proxy. Please visit your library's website or ask a local librarian for assistance." At the bottom, there are 'Save' and 'Cancel' buttons, and a note: "To retain settings, you must turn on cookies".
