

Steering Committee/Advisors - The Vulnerable State

The project benefits from the expertise of a Steering Board made of academics and practitioners. They have been invited and accepted to be part of the Board. They have already been involved in providing feedback to drafts of the project application to the Trust. They have agreed to provide advise throughout the project and facilitate research access to participants and institutions. The PI and Co-Is will convene annual online meetings with the Board to inform them on research progress and take advise on particular aspects. They will be invited to contribute as authors to the edited volume arising from the

- Professor Martha Albertson Fineman (Professor of Law, Emory Law School, Georgia, USA). Contribution: academic expertise on the theoretical framework from legal and philosophical perspectives.
- Dr. Jamie Bennett (HM Prison and Probation Service, Deputy Director Operational Security Group). Contribution: facilitation of research access to prison and probation and advise on development of a model of care in action from criminological and penological perspectives.
- Dr. Jake Phillips (Reader in Criminology, Sheffield Hallam University). Contribution: facilitation of research access within probation, academic expertise on emotional labour from criminological perspectives.
- Professor Insa Koch (Professor of Law, University of Sankt Gallen, Switzerland). Contribution: academic expertise on anthropological theories of the state.
- Professor Vanessa Munro (Professor of Law, University of Warwick). Contribution: academic expertise on theoretical framework from socio-legal and feminist perspectives.
- Professor Eamonn Carrabine (Professor of Sociology, University of Essex). Contribution: academic expertise on visual and qualitative methodologies in criminology and sociology.
- Professor Alan Norrie (Professor of Law, University of Warwick). Contribution: advise on the theoretical framework, in particular on moral and political philosophy.
- Professor Katja Franko (Professor of Criminology, University of Oslo, Norway). Contribution: advise on the theoretical framework, in particular on criminological analysis of humanitarianism and migration controls.
- Mr Tom McNeil (Assistant Police & Crime Commissioner for the West Midlands). Contribution: facilitation of research access to the police, and the development of a model of care in action from a practitioners' perspective.
- Dr Polly Pallister-Wilkins (Associate Professor in Politics, University of Amsterdam, Netherlands). Contribution: advise on the theoretical framework, in particular on the politics of humanitarianism and asylum.
- Mr Steve Gillan (General Secretary, Prison Officers' Association). Contribution: facilitation of research access to prison staff, and the development of a model of care in action from a practitioners' perspective.

- Ms Charlotte Weinberg (Director of Safe Ground and Chair of Trustees at Centre for Crime and Justice Studies). Contribution: expertise on emotional work, and the development of a model of care in action from a practitioners' perspective.

- Professor Vicki Squire (Professor of International Politics, University of Warwick). Contribution: advise on the theoretical framework, in particular on the politics of humanitarianism and asylum, and facilitation of research access to asylum staff.