Dear EWIS participant,

The European Workshops in International Studies, launched in 2013, have become quickly a vital place for the European IR community to engage in sustained, in-depth and productive discussion. They bring together a diverse range of peers from a variety of institutions, countries, disciplines and career stages, which has proved to be fertile ground for the development of projects, special issues, edited collections and for driving forward thinking in key areas.

This year's theme "New Frontiers in International Relations" foregrounds the importance of pushing traditional boundaries and going beyond disciplinary and intellectual frontiers. The 23 workshops that were chosen from the open call reflect this theme well. With 340 participants from across the globe this year's EWIS is not only the largest so far, but the most diverse. We are confident that Cardiff will be an ideal setting to push the boundaries of current research and drive IR to new frontiers by exploring new ideas, themes and directions, but also by forming new networks through the lively social programme that has been arranged.

We are also delighted to have secured a high-profile international keynote speaker whose truly boundary-pushing research – and chosen topic – reflect the EWIS 2017 theme. We very much look forward to Professor Peter Sloterdijk's thoughts on democracy at the keynote event on Wednesday, the 7th of June.

This, the 4th EWIS, sees a number of innovations, including child care support and a range of social events, such as happy hours and a closing party. Together with the excursions that provide ample opportunity to explore Wales, we hope that EWIS Cardiff 2017 provides a memorable as well as productive experience.

None of this would have been possible without the hard work behind the scenes of the workshop conveners, Cardiff University staff, the staff of EISA, as well as numerous student helpers. We hope you all join us in thanking them for this work.

We hope you enjoy the event, and look forward to discussing it with you – and to hearing your feedback – at some point in the social programme!

Keynote Event, 7th June 2017

“The unnamed powers: On democracy as pseudonymous phenomenon”

Professor Peter Sloterdijk

Peter Sloterdijk is a German philosopher and cultural theorist. He is a professor of philosophy and media theory at the University of Art and Design Karlsruhe. His most influential works include Critique of Cynical Reason, the Spheres trilogy, Rage and Time and his work on globalization. Throughout his work he invites us to rethink space, violence and history by challenging core modern dichotomies in a post-Heideggerian tradition. In this talk, the first to an International Relations audience, he re-thinks the concept of democracy.

Followed by a comment by Dr. Claudia Aradau (King’s College London) and Q&A

Introduction by Carwyn Jones, first Minister of Wales and Professor George Boyne, Pro Vice-Chancellor, College of Arts, Humanities and Social Science.

Moderator: Professor Richard Wyn Jones (Cardiff University)

Time: 16.00 (please ensure to arrive on time)

Location: The keynote lecture takes place at the Reardon Smith Theatre situated within the National Museum Cardiff. The lecture is followed by a reception in the galleries of the National Museum Cardiff.

We are grateful for generous funding by the Learned Society of Wales, and Cardiff University’s School of Law and Politics, which have made this event possible.

Useful Information

Workshop Rooms

Workshop rooms are located in three university buildings: 1) The Law Building, 2) Park Place 66a, and 3) John Percival Building. All locations are on the main Cathays Park campus, close to the crossing of Park Place and Corbett Road and are in easy walking distance.

Coffee Breaks

There are three coffee break locations. Coffee breaks for workshops in the Law Building and Park Place 66a take place in either the Law Building's 1st floor or the Tower Building Coffee Shop adjacent to the Law Building. Coffee breaks for workshops in John Percival take place in the John Percival Coffee Shop.

Lunch Venues

Cardiff University's coffee shops provide sandwiches and other snacks for the fast lunch. Other fast options are located around Park Place as well as in the Student Union building. For slow food options close to the workshop locations (ca. 10 min. walking distance), we recommend: Bar 29: Tapas and burgers (29 Park Place), Bellini's: Italian lunch menu (1 Park Place), Royal Welsh College: Hot dishes and sandwiches (Castle grounds).

EWIS Happy Hours

EWIS Happy Hours provide the opportunity to continue the workshop discussion with a cold drink in one of Cardiff's stunning pubs. We have negotiated special deals with these pubs for the following dates:

- Thursday, 17.30 - 19.30 Bar 29, 29 Park Place, Cardiff CF10 3BA
- Friday, 17.30 - 19.30 Barley & Rye, 2 Greyfriars Rd, Cardiff CF10 3AD

Bring your name badge for discounts. Besides these two special pubs, we recommend the following: Urban Tap House/Tiny Rebel, Brew Dog Cardiff, Lab 22, Pen & Wig, Rummer Tavern, Small Bar, and The Corner House. Cardiff's local craft beer is called "Pipes", but the "Brains" label is also local.

EWIS Closing Party, sponsored by the European Journal of International Security

On Friday evening we will celebrate the end of the workshops with music and drinks. The closing party takes place at Ten Feet Tall (11A-12 Church St.) a local cocktail bar with dancefloor. Doors open at 20.00. Entrance is free with your conference badge. Arrive early, the first 50 drinks are free and have been sponsored by the European Journal of International Security.

Dinner Recommendations

Cardiff is home to a thriving food scene with plenty of choice in cuisine. There are four main areas where the majority of restaurants are located: City Road, Cowbridge Road, the city centre, and Cardiff Bay. Below is a range of our local favourites in the city centre that can host larger groups. We advise you to book well in advance with the restaurants. Excursions

We have arranged an attractive package of excursions for Saturday the 10th. These will allow you to explore Cardiff and the stunning Welsh country side. The tours are provided by the local company See Wales (www.seewales.com, +44 29 2022 7227, email: hello@seewales.com).

The links below provide further information and allow you to reserve your place. To avoid disappointment please book your preferred excursion as soon as possible. A tour may be withdrawn if insufficient bookings are received.

The Golden Gower:

A tour of the stunning Gower Peninsular with its golden sandy beaches, rugged coastline and prehistoric wonders.

<http://seewales.com/CardiffLawGower17.asp>

Mines and Mountains:

A tour through the South Wales Valleys and the Brecon Beacons National Park.

<http://seewales.com/CardiffLawbrecon17.asp>

.....

Castles & Whisky:

Your route will take you to two outstanding Welsh castles and the ubiquitous Welsh whisky stop; all to get your history and taste buds tingling.

<http://seewales.com/CardiffLawCastle17.asp>

Caerphilly Castle:

Wales has 641 castles! This half day tour will give you the chance to see the biggest; Caerphilly Castle.

<http://seewales.com/CardiffLawHalf17.asp>

Welsh politics:

A free tour of the Senedd, National Assembly for Wales is a great way of getting introduced to the history of devolution and Governance in Wales, and the current work the Assembly is undertaking in light of the Brexit vote.

The tour starts at 11am on Saturday June 10th. Meeting point is the reception desk located in the Main Hall of the Senedd located in Cardiff Bay. Given the considerable number of people that visit the Senedd every day, and the security check at the gate, be sure to arrive on time. No pre-booking required!

Other Things to Do and See

In addition to the excursions, there are plenty of things to see and do in Cardiff. We recommend visiting Cardiff Castle, exploring Cardiff's Arcades, in particular the Castle Quarter and Royal Arcade, visiting Cardiff Bay – home to the spectacular Wales Millennium Centre as well as the Dr. Who Experience.

The European Journal of International Security (EJIS) publishes theoretical, methodological and empirical papers at the cutting edge of security research. Welcoming high quality research from around the world, EJIS will cover all areas of international security, including: conflict and peace building; strategy and warfare; environmental and food security; economic and energy security; human and everyday security; technology and security; and security governance.

Our remit is broad and explicitly pluralistic. However, the editors will favour papers that are intellectually ambitious and global in scope. The journal is particularly concerned to make connections and build bridges, both between different disciplinary and theoretical perspectives, but also across regional boundaries.

Junior-Senior Dialogue

The EJIS will publish a Junior-senior dialogue' section at regular intervals. Our aim in so doing is to promote the best and most innovative articles by early career researchers, and to advance the discipline from the bottom up.

The dialogue works in the following way:

1) the junior scholar (usually late PhD or early career phase) submits the manuscript and flags it for consideration in the category; 2) the senior (normally the scholar whose work is at stake in the article) acts as peer reviewer; 3) if the manuscript is accepted, the senior's review is turned into a short response article, the junior themselves has an opportunity to respond, and the entire correspondence is published in a separate section of the journal.

New Perspectives

Interdisciplinary Journal of Central & East European Politics and International Relations

New Perspectives seeks to provide interdisciplinary insight into the politics and international relations of Central and Eastern Europe (CEE). We seek to widen and deepen interpretive and explanatory frameworks for creating useful knowledge on and in the region and support contributions to theoretical, conceptual and methodological development more widely.

New Perspectives seeks to encourage and publish original research that is: methodologically systematic, rigorous and reflexive; theoretically innovative and compelling; or empirically ground-breaking. We interpret the borders of 'Central and Eastern Europe' broadly and so encourage submissions that reflect this.

Recent articles include:
