

What does this involve?

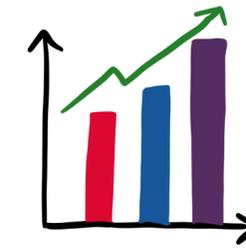

Using public finance to encourage financial flows by:

Supporting private commercial and non-profit entities

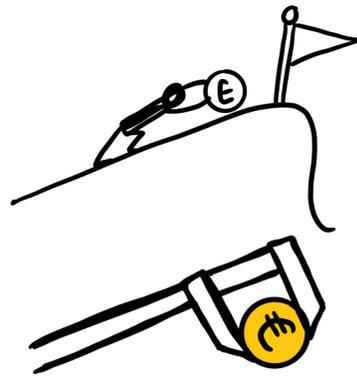

Partnering with hedge funds, pension funds, insurance companies and private equity firms

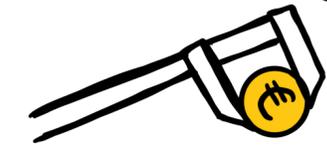

Creating new commodities, markets and financial institutions

Why is this happening?

Perceived scale of the financial challenges to meet SDGs

Financial constraints faced by creditor and donor governments

Urgency of responding to global challenges

What is happening?

Shift towards private sources to finance international development and global public goods

Nef Def

What are we examining?

We look at these changes in five project areas:

Development finance institutions and multilateral development banks

Climate and sustainability finance

Digital technologies and the global economy

Philanthropic and social finance

Private finance and debt sustainability

Unpacking the new architecture of international development finance

Find out more at: bit.ly/nefdef