Dear Undergraduate Student

I hope you are looking forward to reading week, whether resting or reading the change of pace is always welcome. There are a few items for action and information in this week's DUG briefing. The topics are:

Items for Action

- Midterm feedback
- Key dates for careers

Items for Information

1. Mid Term Feedback

We always ask for mid-term feedback in Week 5. This is an opportunity for you to comment on your modules, the content, interest, delivery, relevance, indeed any aspect of your module experience. It is really important to us that as many students as possible tell us how they think the module is going. At this point in the term we can still make changes to reflect your views so your feedback might directly affect your experience. Many of your seminar tutors will be asking you to fill in the form in your seminars. If not, here is a quick guide to giving feedback.

There are three questions.

Your Feedback

- Your Feedback

Tell us what you think

(a) those things you appreciate about the module so far

(b) anything that you think could be done better or differently

(c) any particular comments you would like to make about the direction of the module for the remainder of the term

All we ask is that you comment constructively and professionally, e.g. make sure you are thinking about how your comments can be actioned when you write your feedback and refrain from making personal comments. Module convenors will review all of your feedback and provide a response either collectively or individually.

2. KEY DATES – Careers

We have some really exciting events coming up on the careers front. Please attend if you are interested in pursuing a career in practise – there is invaluable guidance on offer from our careers team for those students looking for work or internships. Getting a foot in the door of the legal profession is very competitive so please take all the help that is offered to you.

Items for information

1. Marking update

All intermediate and finalist year students should have received my update on the current situation on marking last week, which set out the deadlines for marking to be completed and an updated transcript to be received. We are still confident that these deadlines will be met.

Your marks and feedback will now be released module by module as the marking and moderation process is completed. These marks will be provisional until full consideration by the examination board.

Any questions or queries please use the drop in or Padlets below, or drop me a line on email to law.dugs@warwick.ac.uk

2. Personal Tutor Meeting

First years should have seen their personal tutors by now. Returners - you should meet with your personal tutor by the end of this week. This is a monitoring point, so you need to contact your Personal Tutor if you have not yet managed to meet so far this year. They have also been reminded to check in with you and make sure the meeting takes place. Remember how important this relationship is to helping you achieve your best in studies.

3. Questions and Queries

If you want to post a question any other time, please use the PADLETs – links below.
