

Resilience: Market Subjects and Performative Politics

Post-crisis regulation emphasised the nurturing of complex adaptive financial networks that have the ability to ‘bounce back’ in stressful situations. But what are the political consequences of producing ‘resilient’ market subjects and financial systems?

John Morris

Research Centre for Business in Society

Coventry University

James Brassett

Politics and International Studies

University of Warwick

Discussant:

Marco Andreu

University of Warwick

8th November 2017

4.30—6.00 pm

OC0.04

(Oculus Building)

