

THE POLITICS OF NUMBERS

THE NORMATIVE AGENDAS OF GLOBAL BENCHMARKING

Out now:
2015 Special Issue of Review of International Studies

Edited by
André Broome & Joel Quirk

Contents

- Introduction. The politics of numbers: the normative agendas of global benchmarking
André Broome & Joel Quirk
- Governing the world at a distance: the practice of global benchmarking
André Broome & Joel Quirk
- Human security benchmarks: governing human wellbeing at a distance
Alexandra Homolar
- Global benchmarking networks: the cases of disaster risk reduction and supply chains
Tony Porter
- How activists use benchmarks: reformist and revolutionary benchmarks for global economic justice
Leonard Seabrooke & Duncan Wigan
- Benchmarking global supply chains: the power of the 'ethical audit' regime
Genevieve LeBaron & Jane Lister
- Addressing the compliance gap? UN initiatives to benchmark the human rights performance of states and corporations
James Harrison & Sharifah Sekalala
- Benchmarking and blame games: exploring the contestation of the Millennium Development Goals
Liam Clegg
- Climate change benchmarking: constructing a sustainable future?
Caroline Kuzemko
- The limits of global authority: how the World Bank benchmarks African economies
Ole Jacob Sending & Jon Harald Sande Lie

Download the Special Issue

“The proliferation of global benchmarks contributes to the diffusion of normative visions and agendas regarding what various types of transnational actors should look like, what they should value, and how they should behave.”

- André Broome & Joel Quirk

View the Global Benchmarking Database

www.warwick.ac.uk/globalbenchmarking