

'Food, Religion & Writing'

WARWICK
THE UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

Friday, 11 June 2021 - 18:00 - 19:30 (UK time) on MS Teams

What are the relationships between faith, eating and writing? Which foods and beverages mark particular religious occasions (and why)? When and where do consumption and spirituality come into conflict? These and other questions will be explored in an interdisciplinary public debate supported by the 'Food Cultures' theme of Warwick University's Global Research Priority on 'Food'.

Panelists include:

Mark Bratton (rector of St John the Baptist church, Berkswell)

Giulia Champion (IAS-IATL, University of Warwick)

Elizabeth Dowler (Warwick Emeritus Professor and member of the Food Ethics Council)

Christopher Kissane (historian and writer; editorial fellow at History Workshop)

Convenors: Ricardo Aguilar-González & Beat Kümin (Department of History, University of Warwick).

Newly evangelised people of 'S[an]ta Fe [Mexico]', in Map of Mexico-Tenochtitlan ca. 1537-1541. Uppsala University Library, Carolina Rediviva.

To join the discussion please register by 10 June at the website below - you will receive a link by email prior to the event:

<https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/food-religion-and-writing-debate-friday-11th-june-2021-1800-1930-bst-tickets-154374561469>