

Another India

The Burden of the Urban

WARWICK
THE UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

Workshop | 10-12 December 2015 | Tata Institute of Social Sciences | Mumbai

For most of the twentieth century, India was understood primarily in terms of the rural ('village India'). But today, 'The city' has come to serve as an indispensable site from which to launch broader investigations about India and its place in the contemporary world. Whether we write about the environment, violence, wealth, sexuality, modernity or poverty, India's urban landscapes regularly ground our inquiry. Themes for discussion include:

- ▶ The city as index
- ▶ Shadow Cities
- ▶ Keeping It Real
- ▶ After the City

By bringing together colleagues who possess expertise from a range of disciplines and a range of urban contexts, we seek to interrogate these questions and consider what the city in question might take us next onto.

This event will be followed by a performance art happening:

This city reminds me of another

ARTIndia, Jindal Mansion Lobby, Pedder Road, Mumbai
Saturday 12 December, 6-8 PM

Made Possible with funds from the Departments of Economics, English & Comparative Literary Studies, History, Politics & Interantional Studies, Sociology, Social Science Faculty, International Developmant GRP & Connecting Cultures GRP

- ▶ Ulka Anjaria, Brandeis University
- ▶ Brinda Bose, JNU
- ▶ Mala De Alwis, Colombo
- ▶ Peter Hitchcock, CUNY
- ▶ Sarah Hodges, Warwick
- ▶ Anjali Monteiro and KP Jayasankar, TISS
- ▶ Pablo Mukherjee, Warwick
- ▶ Shilpa Phadke, TISS
- ▶ Nikhil Rao, Wesleyan
- ▶ Jon Shapiro Anjaria, Brandeis University
- ▶ Rashmi Varma, Warwick

This workshop is part of the University of Warwick's Another India series

warwick.ac.uk/research/priorities/internationaldevelopment/research/southasia/anotherindia/indiaurban

GLOBAL RESEARCH PRIORITIES

CONNECTING CULTURES

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT