Dear GRP ID Members,

As we near the end of term 2 we thought to highlight some deadlines we have regarding some of the GRP ID specific activities. So please have a closer look below.

We will now be circulating fortnightly newsletters, so that all our members have a chance to see updates from the GRP in International Development. We, like you, dislike being over-emailed so we are trying to cut this down as well. If you would like any GRP ID relevant news to be circulated to our network, please ensure you send your items in for review by Wednesday each week to be considered.

Last Wednesday, we had the absolute pleasure of hearing Amjad Rihan, a whistleblower, talk about his experiences around crimes of the global gold trade at our Annual Lecture. Amjad ran an engaging workshop about his personal story around his controversial work which was quite successful. We would like to thank Amjad for taking time out for talking to us about eye-opening and insightful ideas around whistleblowing and crimes in the financial world.

We are proud to announce that Sir Hilary Beckles, Vice-Chancellor from the University of West Indies, an eminent environmental campaigner and scholar, will be coming to the University of Warwick in April. He will be giving a Public Lecture around the theme of reparatory justice, along with a masterclass as well. We aim to have a few more events and activities that the esteemed Professor will be holding, so do watch this space!

We are still accepting abstract submissions from those interested at presenting their research around our annual theme of Democracy and Development, at the GRP ID Annual PG Conference. Please submit by April 12 (noon). More information here.

Our Annual Postgraduate Conference will take place on Thursday 13 June. This one-day conference is designed to give postgraduate students from different research areas an opportunity to present and discuss their research and form new connections with their colleagues across different disciplines. Please register your place at the PG Conference here

In our last newsletter, Marco Haenssger's project details were written incorrectly.

Marco Haenssger was given seed funding support for his large interdisciplinary research project on antimicrobial resistance (AMR). The project responds to the GCRF Call on "Health in Context" and will involve mixed-methods research and community- led development programmes in rural Thailand, Laos, and Cambodia.

Finally.. If you would like to submit an application for seed funding, we have very limited funds available so do hurry! Our final deadline for submissions is Friday 22 March 2019.

For further information on our seed funding guidelines, please see here.

Annual Photography Competition 2018-19

Hope, Democracy and Development

The GRP International Development Annual Photography Competition has, for the past four years, attracted hundreds of high quality photographs taken in locations all over the world. The Competition is open to any University of Warwick student or staff member. We are looking for photographic images that address the annual research theme on 'Hope, Democracy and Development'. Photographic submissions can interpret the theme in broad terms, and all submissions (whether taken by cell phone, professional camera, or a composite image formed with software or an app) will be considered equally.

There are two submission deadlines:
Submission deadline 1: 25th December 2018 (for inclusion in the exhibition at the City Arcade Gallery, Coventry City as well as the competition prizes)
Submission deadline 2: 1st April 2019 (for the competition prizes only).

Prizes: First Prize: £150; Second Prize: £100; Third Prize: £50.

Please note: selected submissions from the first deadline will feature in a small touring public exhibition at the CITY ARCADE GALLERY, City Arcade, Coventry, January 2019.

All submissions will be considered for the prizes, and the winners will be determined by a jury of experts, who will award the three prizes along with commendations for other outstanding photographs.

The Judgement Criteria are: (1) Response to the theme of the Competition (2) Creativity and originality (3) Technical and aesthetic quality of the image (4) Composition and lighting (5) Conceptual meaning.

Winners will be formally announced at the prestigious GRP International Development Annual Post Graduate Conference in June 2019 (to be advertised).

For the Terms and Conditions and other details of competition submission, please see experts.iss.uk/news-views/press-information/developmentresearch/annualinternationaldevelopmentphotocomp.
