

Wild Earth

Connecting People with Nature

Wild Earth is a social enterprise in Coventry and we offer nature and the outdoors as a platform to offer young people and adults:

- Mental health and wellbeing interventions;
- Self-development and Employability programmes;
- Biodiversity and climate action interventions;
- Community Capacity Building initiatives.

Geeta Sarcar

Director of Development and Programmes

Geeta has over 22-years of experience of working with youth and community sector in Coventry and Warwickshire. In 2011, she was instrumental in setting up Wild Earth - a social enterprise committed to connecting people with nature for better life outcomes.

Within her role, she works face-to-face with children, young people and adults from the hardest to reach communities in Coventry and Warwickshire. She is responsible for fundraising, communicating social impact and programme management.
