A reminder of the guidelines for users of the Chaplaincy Library Study Space

In response to the recent survey results we would ask you to be mindful of and respectful to other Chaplaincy users – students and staff – so everyone can enjoy and benefit from this area.

We expect you to:

- Make everyone feel welcome to use this multi-faith space
- Engage in quiet study
- Leave the space tidy and keep your possessions with you at all times
- Use headphones when using devices
- Feel free to tell someone if they are disturbing your study
- Spill into the Central Space – when not booked – for private chats, socialising or meeting with friends.

We do not expect you to:

- Proselytise - it is inappropriate to approach others while in the Chaplaincy with the intention of trying to convert them to your religion or belief system. However, respectful interfaith dialogue is welcomed.
- Hold society meetings, prayer gatherings or play music, in the library area or in the kitchen. Please use your Central Space bookings for this. We wish to ensure that users of all faiths feel comfortable and welcome at all times. You can find bookable spaces on campus in the library for example https://warwick.ac.uk/services/library/using/libspaces/

You may be quietly asked to leave the space if you are not respectful of this guidance.

Thank you for taking time to read this.

The Chaplaincy Team 😊
