Why Equality, Diversity & Inclusion Matters And What It Means To You

The ED&I Team hold termly induction sessions for all new starters enabling staff to hear about the work the team do, an overview of ED&I initiatives and how you can embed this into your role.

The session is suitable for all staff at all levels.

This is also an opportunity for new staff to network with others and meet other staff from across the institution.

The sessions are three hours and lunch will be provided.

You can find more information and book a place on the next induction session at:
