

Code of Practice on Corporate Governance

1. Introduction

This Code of Practice provides a summary of decisions taken by the University Council in relation to corporate governance and related procedural matters. It should be read as appropriate in conjunction with the University's governing instruments (Charter, Statutes, Ordinances, Regulations, Financial Regulations and Procedures, and Standing Orders of the Council), together with the Committee of University Chairs (CUC) Higher Education Code of Governance (2020).

2. Principles of Governance and Management

The Council recognises that there are clear distinctions between governance and management. However, an overriding aim of both governance and management at the University of Warwick is the preservation of academic freedom within the law, combined with academic responsibility.

Governance has to do with defining policies, setting strategic objectives and monitoring of progress towards those objectives, and effective governance requires an organisational culture which gives freedom to act, establishes authorities, accountabilities and at its core has relationships which are based on mutual respect, trust and honesty. Council members need to be satisfied that processes and procedures are in place that are sufficient, necessary and effective in running the business of the University. They do this by asking questions and ensuring responses are sound and consistent, rather than by doing direct checking themselves. Neither the Chair of the Council nor individual independent members should become involved in the day-to-day executive management of the University.

To ensure good governance, and facilitate effective management, the Council is guided by the public interest governance principles, which the Office for Students (OfS) requires all registered Higher Education providers to abide by:

I. Academic freedom: Academic staff at an English Higher Education provider have freedom within the law: to question and test received wisdom; and to put forward new ideas and controversial or unpopular opinions, without placing themselves in jeopardy of losing their jobs or privileges they may have at the provider.

II. Accountability: The provider operates openly, honestly, accountably and with integrity and demonstrates the values appropriate to be recognised as an English Higher Education provider.

III. Student engagement: The governing body ensures that all students have opportunities to engage with the governance of the provider, and that this allows for a range of perspectives to have influence.

IV. Academic governance: The governing body receives and tests assurance that academic governance is adequate and effective through explicit protocols with the senate/academic board (or equivalent).

V. Risk management: The provider operates comprehensive corporate risk management and control arrangements (including for academic risk) to ensure the sustainability of the provider's operations, and its ability to continue to comply with all of its conditions of registration.

VI. Value for money: The governing body ensures that there are adequate and effective arrangements in place to provide transparency about value for money for all students and (where a provider has access to the student support system or to grant funding) for taxpayers.

VII. Freedom of speech: The governing body takes such steps as are reasonably practicable to ensure that freedom of speech within the law is secured within the provider.

VIII. Governing body: The size, composition, diversity, skills mix, and terms of office of the governing body is appropriate for the nature, scale and complexity of the provider.

IX. Fit and proper: Members of the governing body, those with senior management responsibilities, and individuals exercising control or significant influence over the provider, are fit and proper persons.

No less than every three years, the Council will review its own effectiveness and the institution's performance. The most recent Council Effectiveness Review commenced in the 2019/2020 academic year. Review of institutional performance will include annual consideration of strategic key performance indicators and transformational milestones, and periodic review of the University Strategic Risk Register (SRR).

3. The Higher Education Code of Governance

In addition, the Council follows the guidance set out in The Higher Education (HE) Code of Governance, published by the CUC. This Code includes a set of core values which HE governance should be founded on, which, together with the 'Nolan Principles of Public Life', provide an ethical framework for the personal behaviour of governors and boards as corporate entities. Alongside the OfS's public interest governance principles (listed above I.-IX.), the HE Code of Governance identifies six primary elements of HE governance, some of which overlap:

1 Accountability. The governing body is collectively responsible and accountable for institutional activities, approving all final decisions on matters of fundamental concern within its remit.

2 Sustainability. Working with the Executive, the governing body sets the mission, strategic direction, overall aims and values of the institution. In ensuring the sustainability of the institution the governing body actively seeks and receives assurance that delivery of the strategic plan is in line with legislative and regulatory requirements, institutional values, policies and procedures, and that there are effective systems of control and risk management in place.

3 Reputation. The governing body safeguards and promotes institutional reputation and autonomy by operating in accordance with the values that underpin this Code, its various elements and the principles of public life.

4 Equality, inclusivity and diversity. The governing body promotes a positive culture which supports ethical behaviour, equality, inclusivity and diversity across the institution, including in the governing body's own operation and composition. This includes ensuring under-representation and differences in outcomes are challenged and, where practicable, corrective action is taken to ensure fair outcomes for all.

5 Effectiveness. The governing body ensures that governance structures and processes are robust, effective and agile by scrutinising and evaluating governance performance against this Code (and other Codes where an institution's constitutional form requires it), and recognised standards of good practice.

6 Engagement. Governing bodies understand the various stakeholders of the institution (globally, nationally and locally) and are assured that appropriate and meaningful engagement takes place to allow stakeholder views to be considered and reflected in relevant decision-making processes.

4. Appointment and Terms of Office of Members of the Council

The total membership of the Council is 21, a majority of whom are independent members, including the Chair of Council and the Treasurer. The Council believes there is clear separation of roles and responsibilities between the Executive and the governing body, with delegated authorities to the Council's Committees. The Committees provide a suitable basis for involving Council members in detailed consideration of strategic and operational matters affecting the University prior to the submission of recommendations to the Council.

In line with the provisions of University Ordinance 4: The Council, guidance in the CUC HE Code of Governance, and following the resolution of the Council at its meeting of 15 May 2013, the maximum term of office for independent membership of the Council (except where provided for by another appointing criterion) is nine years (on a pattern of three plus three years, with the potential thereafter for reappointment on an annual basis for up to three further years, at the Council's discretion, and with no presumption of an extension of appointment beyond six years).

The Nominations Committee considers the re-appointment of an independent member after the first three year period, with an expectation that reappointment would normally be made for a further three years, noting that the appointment during each term of office is subject to the caveat that "in the event that the member was unable to perform their duties or that there was a need to rebalance the skills or diversity of the Council during the term of appointment, the Council could require the member to stand down."

5. Nominations Committee of the Council

The Council has established a Nominations Committee with the following membership and terms of reference:

Membership

The Chair of Council (Chair) ex officio

The Vice-Chancellor and President ex officio

The Vice-Chair of Council (Vice-Chair) ex officio

7. Delegation of Powers of the Council

While, as per the CUC HE Code of Governance, the Council is collectively responsible and accountable for institutional activities, approving all final decisions on matters of fundamental concern within its remit, subject to periodic reports to the Council, it has delegated powers to certain of its major Committees, details of which can be found within Committee Terms of Reference, and to Officers of the University, details of which can be found within the Scheme of Delegation. <sup>2</sup> Except where there is an explicit requirement to seek the approval of the Senate, or where adopting the policy would have a significant impact on the financial or budgetary position of the University, where the approval of the Finance and General Purposes Committee is required.

8. Duties and Responsibility of Members of the Council

The University was created by Royal Charter granted in March 1965 which provides that the Council shall be the University's executive governing body.

The full details of the Council's powers and constitution are set out in the Charter and Statutes of the University, as amended and approved by the Privy Council in February 2019. The Council is the governing body of the University. It is the employing body and is responsible for the University's overall organisational structure and for its finances, property, investments and business. The Senate is the supreme academic authority and, subject to the powers of the Council, is responsible for regulating and directing the academic work of the University in teaching and research, including the awarding of degrees. In addition, one member of staff from Professional Services is elected by Professional Services to membership of the Council.

Members must discharge their duties in line with the accepted standards of behaviour in public life and the values in the CUC HE Code of Governance, accepting individual and collective accountability for the affairs of the institution. Members of the Council as individuals are personally responsible for any breach of trust, which includes wilfully exceeding their powers or spending University funds on something outside the University's charitable objects. To safeguard student and public funds, members of the Council are asked to sign a fit and proper person declaration form on an annual basis. The Audit and Risk Committee and the Finance and General Purposes Committee will continue to act vigorously to ensure that the University's spending of funds will be in strict compliance with these charitable objects.

The University is an independent Corporation. The University holds charitable status and the University and its governors (trustees) are required to adhere to the regulations set out by the Charity Commission. Although a member of the Council may have been appointed or elected as a representative of other University bodies such as the Senate or the Students' Union, a member owes their duty of care as a managing trustee to the University and not to their appointing body or electorate. All members of the governing body (including students and staff members) share the same legal responsibilities and obligations as other members, so no one can be routinely excluded from discussions.

Members of the Council as 'trustees' must at all times act in the best interests of the University and within the scope of their powers. Provided that they do so, as individual members, they will be indemnified by the University against the results of their actions or decisions. Members of the Council will not be held personally liable for debt in the unlikely event of the University becoming financially insolvent.

Particular documents that will be of interest to Council members are available to them on the Council Members webpage and Convene document library:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/gov/committees/council/councilmembers/>

9. The Senate

Whilst the Council is collectively responsible and accountable for institutional activities and good conduct of all aspects of the University's operation, within that the Senate has responsibility for the academic activities of the University, including all aspects of the operations of the University that have a bearing on teaching, research and the welfare, supervision and discipline of students.

In order that the Senate may fulfil its remit there are certain statutory provisions which ensure that the Council must take into account the views of the Senate on resource matters whether physical or financial insofar as they affect educational and social policy. In particular, the Senate has the power to advise the Council on the allocation of resources for teaching and research and to advise the Council on priorities for new buildings and on the long-term development of the University. In addition, the Senate may make recommendations to the Council on any matter of interest to the University.

The Senate provides assurance to the Council that academic governance is robust and effective, and that specific academic risks are being effectively managed. The Senate continues to work with the Council to maintain academic standards and continuously improve their quality.

10. Conflicts of Interest for Members of the Council

As per the CUC HE Code of Governance, all members of the Council have a duty to record and declare any conflicts of interest. It is important that all members of the Council of the University are cognisant of any conflict of interest which might arise from their membership of the Council (or other University body) on the one hand and membership or connection with other bodies outside the University on the other. The following is a set of simple steps which members of the Council and members of Council Committees are asked to follow.

The Secretary to Council maintains a Register of Members' Interests in which any third party pecuniary or non-pecuniary interests may be registered if the member considers that a conflict of interest could arise, or be perceived to arise. Annually, the Secretary to Council will seek from all members of the Council confirmation of their current interests. All members must respond, whether or not they have any interest to record. The Secretary to Council shall make the Register of Members' Interests available for inspection to any bona fide enquirer on demonstration of good cause and at the discretion of the Chair of the Council and the Secretary to Council, and subject to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act. An anonymised Register of Members' Interests is available on the University website:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/gov/committees/council/members>. The Executive publishes its respective Registers of Interest on the University website:

<https://warwick.ac.uk/services/vco/execteam>

If a member has any pecuniary or non-pecuniary interest, direct or indirect, in any contract, proposed contract or other matter and is present at a meeting of the Council or other University body at which the relevant matter is the subject of consideration, the member shall, at the meeting and as soon as practicable after its commencement, disclose the fact (notwithstanding any entry in the Register of Members' Interests). The member should then judge whether it is appropriate to take part in the consideration or discussion of the matter or vote on any question with respect to it, and whether it is appropriate to leave the meeting during the consideration of the relevant matter. At the start of every meeting of the Council, the Chair will give members an opportunity to declare any interests.

Members of the Council should also bear in mind the requirements under the UK Bribery Act 2010 and the University's Anti-Bribery Policy, including the need for members to act with care in relation to hospitality or gifts which could be perceived as inducements by persons or bodies seeking to supply goods or services to the University (see Financial Procedures 3 and 16). Similarly, members should take care not to solicit or recommend any person for employment by the University or admission to it other than through the proper procedures, and should disclose if a candidate is related to them by family when providing testimonials of a candidate's ability, experience or character.

The above guidance applies equally to a Committee, sub Committee, joint Committee, board of trustees or board of directors belonging to the University or appointed in whole or part by it, and to the members of such bodies. Matters concerning conflicts of interest in relation to members of staff of the University generally are covered in the relevant terms and conditions of employment.

Audit committee members should not be members of an HEI's finance committee or its equivalent. This is because it would create a potential conflict of interest when the audit committee is considering issues involving the finance committee. UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

Statement of Delegated Authorities

Delegated authorities are listed within the University Scheme of Delegation available on the University website <https://warwick.ac.uk/services/gov/calendar/schemeofdelegation>.

UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

Role of the Chair of Council

1. Introduction

The Chair of the University Council is a statutory position as set out in University Statute 5 and Ordinance 4.3 respectively:

- (a) The Council will appoint a Chair of Council from amongst its independent members, who will preside over meetings of the Council.
- (b) The Chair of Council will be appointed for an initial term of up to five years and will be eligible for reappointment for one further term. If the appointed Chair is already a member, the initial term of office under this paragraph starts from the date of appointment as Chair of Council.
- (c) The Council may appoint a Vice-Chair of Council from amongst its independent members. The Vice-Chair of Council will deputise for the Chair of Council as necessary.
- (d) The Vice-Chair of Council will be appointed for an initial term of three years and will be eligible for reappointment for one further term.

The Council is the governing body of the University and the Chair of the Council has particular responsibilities for ensuring that the Council operates efficiently and effectively, as set out in section 3.

Like many pre-92 Universities, the Chair of the University Council is by custom appointed by the Council to serve as one of a maximum of two Pro-Chancellors of the University.

2. Term of Appointment

In accordance with Ordinance 4.3(1), the Chair of Council shall hold office for five years, or for such shorter period as the Council may determine at the time of appointment.

It has been custom and practice for the incoming Chair of the Council to be determined one year in advance of the conclusion of the term of appointment of the current Chair of the Council, in order to effect a smooth transition from the outgoing to the incoming Chair.

The office of the Chair of Council is not remunerated but may reclaim all travel and similar expenses incurred in the course of University business, at published University rates, through the Secretary to Council.

3. Role of the Chair of the Council

The key role of the Chair of the Council is to ensure that the necessary business of the Council is carried out effectively and in a manner appropriate for the proper conduct of public business. The Chair ensures that the Council discharges its responsibilities in accordance with University Statutes, its Statement of Primary Responsibilities and its internal rules and regulations. The Chair of the Council is also responsible for ensuring that the Council conducts itself in accordance with accepted standards of behavior in public life, embracing selflessness, integrity, objectivity, accountability, openness, honesty and leadership. The Secretary to Council provides advice and guidance to the Chair of the Council on all matters relating to the proper conduct of Council business.

The development of a strong, constructive and challenging working relationship between the Chair of the Council and the Vice-Chancellor and President is of key importance to the effective operation of the University. While the Chair plays a key role in the business of the University the Chair has no role in the day-to-day executive management of the University which rests with the Vice-Chancellor and President and their key officers. The Chair of the Council must also build a strong and effective relationship with the University Treasurer, as the second independent Officer of the University, and a range of University officers, in particular the Secretary to Council and members of the University Executive.

The University Council meets up to seven times in each year and the Chair of the Council is expected to attend all meetings and to be readily available to attend the University to discuss Council business outside meetings of the Council. The Chair of the Council should ensure that the Council exercises collective responsibility and that decisions are taken corporately by all members acting together as a body whether they be independent, academic or non-academic members.

The Chair of the Council is directly involved in the process for the recruitment and selection of new Council members and encourages all members, independent, academic and non-academic to participate in induction and updating events organised by the University.

A number of the responsibilities of the Council, as prescribed in Statutes, have been delegated to Council sub-committees or Officers of the University. A copy of the University's Statement of Authorities delegated from the Council is available from the Secretary to Council (and is also included at Appendix 2).

The Chair of the Council is Chair of the following Council and Joint Senate and Council Committees: Nominations Committee, Honorary Degrees Committee and Remuneration Committee.

The Chair of the Council also serves ex officio on the Finance and General Purposes Committee which meets up to seven times each year. The Chair of the Council may also serve on specific working groups established by the Council and other University bodies to consider major developments or investments by the University. These are by nature occasional.

The Chair of the Council is by custom appointed to the statutory role of Pro-Chancellor. Up to two Pro-Chancellors may be appointed. The Chair represents the University on all relevant sector-wide bodies (such as CUC) and at relevant meetings of relevant sector-wide bodies (such as OfS). In order to meet the requirements of the position the Chair of the Council must have significant senior experience of Chairing organisations of a size and complexity similar to those of the University. The Chair must be of a robust and independent frame of mind and at the same time possess diplomatic skills which will allow them to facilitate and participate in free debate on key issues. It is also important that the Chair of the Council has understanding of and empathy with the objectives of the University, its teaching and research activities and the broader and strategic issues facing the HE sector.

4. Role of the Vice-Chair of Council

University Statute provides for the appointment of a Vice-Chair of Council, not being a member of the academic staff or salaried officer in the University. The Vice-Chair office for three years.

The role of Vice-Chair includes all of the responsibilities and expectations of an independent member of Council. In addition the role holder carries the following responsibilities:

- (a) To substitute for the Chair of Council in chairing meetings of Council or attendance at other Council Committees. The role-holder will be invited to engage in the pre-meeting approval of meeting agendas for any meetings where they are expected to serve as Chair.
- (b) To attend meetings of the Council (and agreed Committees) as well as other formal/informal meetings within the University.
- (c) To discharge the full responsibilities of independent members of the Council (including additional and visible engagement with social and civic events organised by the University or its partners).
- (d) To act in accordance with any delegated authority as authorised by the Council.
- (e) To act as an ambassador for the University, promoting its activities in the wider community and, in particular, assisting with philanthropic activity and fund raising projects of the University.
- (f) To attend any training and updating events with regard to the independent membership of the Council or the role of Vice-Chair.

Notes:

- (a) Appointment as Vice-Chair carries no implications in relation to appointment as Chair of Council.
- (b) These role specifications are not intended to be an exhaustive description of the duties and responsibilities involved in each role and may be subject to periodic change by the Council from time to time.

UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

Role of the University Treasurer

1. Introduction

The role of Treasurer of the University is a position set out in University Ordinance 3:

- (a) The Council will appoint a Treasurer of the University from amongst its independent members.
- (b) The Council will determine the period of office of the Treasurer.
- (c) The Treasurer will, in an honorary capacity, perform such duties as may be determined by the Council.

2. Term of Appointment

There is no statutory period of appointment for the University Treasurer but it has been custom and practice for the Treasurer to be appointed for an initial period of four years with the possibility of re-appointment for a further period.

The office of Treasurer is not remunerated but the Treasurer may reclaim all travel and similar expenses incurred in the course of University business, at published University rates, through the Secretary to Council.

3. Role of the University Treasurer

The key role of the University Treasurer is to Chair the University's Finance and General Purposes Committee and, in collaboration with the Chair of Council, to provide advice, guidance and constructive challenge to the Council, the Vice-Chancellor and President and the University Executive team.

The development of a strong relationship between the Treasurer and the Chair of Council is of significant importance as the two key independent officers of the University. Similarly the Treasurer must build strong relationships with and provide mutual support for the Vice-Chancellor and President, members of the University Executive team and the Secretary to Council.

The Treasurer will be consulted on important matters affecting the University's financial strategy and performance. However, day-to-day executive responsibility for the management of University financial matters, and the management of the University Finance Office, rests with the Group Finance Director who is responsible directly to the Vice-Chancellor and President (the University's Chief Accounting Officer). The Treasurer's role is one of providing support, counsel, guidance and constructive challenge; the Treasurer has no executive responsibility within the institution.

The Finance and General Purposes Committee meets up to seven times in each year and the Treasurer is expected to attend all meetings and to be readily available to attend the University to discuss University financial matters outside Finance and General Purposes Committee meetings. The Treasurer is expected to present reports and recommendations from the Finance and General Purposes Committee to meetings of the Council.

A significant proportion of the financial responsibilities of the Council, as prescribed in Statutes, are delegated to the Finance and General Purposes Committee, to the Treasurer or to the Vice-Chancellor and President and other Senior University Officers acting on behalf of the Finance and General Purposes Committee. A copy of the Terms of Reference of the Finance and General Purposes Committee are set out in Appendix 1. The University's Statement of Authorities delegated from Council, which sets out the authorities delegated to the Finance and General Purposes Committee and the Treasurer, is available online within the Scheme of Delegation.

The Treasurer serves on a number of Committees of the Finance and General Purposes Committee, including the Financial Plan Sub Committee and the Investment Sub Committee.

The Treasurer may also serve on specific working groups established by the Finance and General Purposes Committee and other University bodies to consider major developments or investments by the University. These are by nature occasional.

The Treasurer serves ex officio on a number of Sub Committees of the Council.

In addition the Treasurer is expected to participate and, where appropriate, to lead, on discussion of financial matters at University strategic planning events.

The Treasurer is also invited to attend other significant events in the University's Corporate life including Degree Congregations, where the Treasurer plays a formal ceremonial role, the Degree Congregation Dinners, and suppers and events which raise the profile of the University at an international, national and regional level.

In order to meet the requirements of the position the University Treasurer must have wide financial experience which would normally have been acquired in senior management roles in one or more relevant sectors (which might usefully include commerce or industry). The individual must have a robust and independent frame of mind which will allow them to encourage and participate in free debate on key issues. It is also important that the Treasurer has some understanding of and empathy with the objectives of the University and its teaching and research activities and of the general financial issues affecting the HE sector in the UK and internationally.

UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK

The Role of the Secretary to the Governing Body

The Secretary has a key role to play in the operation and conduct of the governing body, and in ensuring that appropriate procedures are followed:

1. The secretary or clerk to the governing body should be appointed to that post by the governing body.
2. It is normally the case that the secretary will combine this function with a senior administrative or managerial role within the institution. The institution and the secretary must exercise great care in maintaining a separation of the two functions. Irrespective of any other duties that the secretary may have within the institution, when dealing with governing body business the secretary will act on the instructions of the governing body itself.
3. In their role as secretary, the secretary should be solely responsible to the governing body and should therefore have a direct reporting link to the Chair of the governing body for the conduct of governing body business (i.e. agendas, papers, minutes etc.).
4. The Chair and members of the governing body should look to the secretary for guidance about their responsibilities under the charter, statutes, articles, ordinances and regulations to which they are subject including legislation and the requirements of the OfS, and on how these responsibilities should be discharged. It is the responsibility of the secretary to alert the governing body if they believe that any proposed action would exceed the governing body's powers or be contrary to legislation or to the OfS' terms and conditions of funding. (Note: the Vice-Chancellor and President as the 'accountable officer' (outlined in section 13) is formally responsible for alerting the governing body if any actions or policy is incompatible with the OfS terms and conditions of funding but this cannot absolve the secretary from having this responsibility as well).
5. The provision of legal advice or for obtaining legal advice for the governing body is the responsibility of the secretary of the governing body. The secretary is also responsible for advising the governing body on all matters of procedure.
6. The secretary should advise the Chair in respect to any matters where conflict, potential or real, may occur between the governing body and the Vice-Chancellor and President.
7. It is incumbent on the governing body to safeguard the secretary's ability to carry out these responsibilities. It is important that the secretary also both consults and keeps the Vice-Chancellor and President fully informed on any matter of governing body business (other than in relation to the Remuneration Committee's consideration of the Vice-Chancellor and President's emoluments). It is good practice for the Chair of the governing body, the Vice-Chancellor and President and the secretary to the governing body to work closely together within the legal framework provided by the charter, statutes or articles of government and the ordinances and regulations laid down by the institution and the OfS.

8. If there is a conflict of interest actual or potential, on any particular matter, between the secretary's administrative or managerial responsibilities within the institution and their responsibilities as secretary to the governing body it is the responsibility of the secretary to draw it to the attention of the governing body. If the governing body believes that it has identified such a conflict of interest itself the Chair should seek advice from the Vice-Chancellor and President, but must offer the secretary an opportunity to respond to any such question.
