- (b) That the deadline for submission of the bid was 8 December 2010.

- (c) That the Institute of Education had a strong relationship with the Teach First organisation, including support for curriculum and quality assurance, the contract for the Teach First National Summer School, as well as providing the Teach First Midlands MA offering.

- (e) That the Teach First programme had multi-party support for its methods of teacher training which focused on training in school settings, and this was reflected in the increased investment of government funding.
- (f) That the University's bid was focused on subject areas of current expertise.
- (g) That Teach First funding would be received directly by the University, with arrangements and costs for interviews and placements handled centrally by Teach First, including the payment for placement supervision in schools.

(by the Business Development Director (Institute of Education))

- (h) That it was likely that Teach First allocations would be made in order to be viable at a subject level for providers.
- (i) That other Teach First providers in the Midlands region included the University of Worcester, University of Wolverhampton and UCE, however, the University of Birmingham was also expressing interest in becoming a new provider.
