61/17-18 Report on the Size and Shape of the University

CONSIDERED:

(a) A report on the Size and Shape of the University together with an oral report from the Provost, (S.37/17-18 (Restricted)).

REPORTED (by the Provost):

(b) In response to a query from E Dunford, that it was anticipated that there would be larger growth STEMM relative to HASS, but that there would be growth in all areas, noting that STEMM was an area where overall performance was affected by size;
(c) That some institutions had been able to grow both market share and tariff and that the Education Strategy work would help to underpin the fundamentals for the future;

(d) In response to a query from L Jackson relating to the capacity of study space, that issues arising from the Size and Shape work would feed into the University’s Campus Master Planning process, with scope for student input;

(e) In response to a query from Professor R Goodwin, that it was expected that there would be capacity for growth in joint degrees;

(f) That the overall aspiration was to adopt a strategy of achieving modest growth to around 32,000 students (total headcount) by 2030 with a slight re-balancing in favour of STEMM subjects and some growth in more flexible and distributed forms of delivery;

REPORTED (by the Vice-Chancellor):

(g) That the growth target recommended was not a fixed target that must be achieved, but it had been derived as a result of information provided by departments.

RECOMMENDED (to the Council):

(h) That the University focus on the modest growth option as both strategically well aligned and consistent with Option A from the initial “Size and Shape” work.

64/17-18 Vice-Chancellor’s Business

RECEIVED:

An oral report from the Vice-Chancellor.

REPORTED:

(a) Shirley Crookes

That this meeting of the Senate would be the last that Shirley Crookes would attend as she would be retiring at the end of March 2018, and that the thanks of the Senate be extended to Shirley for her service.

(b) Assembly election

That a call via Insite for a representative of the Assembly who is not an administrative/support member of staff to serve on the Senate would follow at the start of the Summer term to fill the vacancy arising from Shirley Crookes’ retirement;

(c) University and College Union (UCU) Strike Action

(i) That the agreement negotiated between Universities UK (UUK) and the University and College Union (UCU) on 12 March had been rejected by the UCU branches;

(ii) That the UCU had announced that it was planning further strikes over the Summer exam period which would be responsive to individual institutions’ examination timetables;

(iii) That the University was trying to achieve both fair and affordable pensions as well as delivery of teaching to students;

(iv) That the proposals approved by the Joint Negotiating Committee (JNC) in January 2018 would be the default position in the absence of any subsequent agreement, noting that there was a statutory requirement to consult on those proposals giving each USS member an opportunity express their views;

(v) That that the January 2018 proposals had been negotiated within a set of assumptions and a scheme valuation that had been established in November 2017, noting that these represented a more conservative framework in relation to risk than that used by the UUK consultation of September 2017;

(vi) That the January 2018 proposals had embedded in them the current winding down of the Defined Benefit provision to zero; noting that there was currently no commitment to the important work of re-examining the November 2017 assumptions and valuations that underpin the challenges facing the USS pension scheme which had led to those proposals;

(vii) That as a result of the 12 March 2018 deal failing, UUK’s commitment to carry out an independent valuation of the USS had been lost;

(viii) That so long as the November 2017 assumptions and valuation remained the basis for negotiations, a better deal was unlikely to be obtained without a new valuation;

(ix) That Warwick had been very active and vocal as an institution in part because of the tremendous support received from its Treasurer, Keith Bedell-Pearce, who had 10 years’ Board experience at Prudential plc, along with support from the University’s Council;

(x) That the University had also benefitted from the efforts of a number of staff in the Department of Statistics who had carried out tremendous work around challenging the November 2017 valuation and sets of assumptions, in particular Professor Jane Hutton to whom significant thanks were due;

REPORTED (by Professor S Jacka):

(xi) That the November 2017 USS valuation represented an extreme position within the actuarial profession, and that it was regrettable that an independent valuation was not available for consideration;

REPORTED (by Professor M Freely and H Worsdale):

(xii) That the University had a role to play in ensuring that the entire University community was as informed as possible regarding the dispute, in particular how valuations work;

REPORTED (by H Worsdale):

(xiii) That all members of the community were in a difficult position, noting that students had voted to enable the Students’ Union (SU) to support the strike and so the SU was following that mandate, but also that the SU wished to ensure that the impact on students was as minimal as possible.
Registrar’s Business

REPORTED:

(a) Recent Institutional Successes
   (i) That Warwick Business School’s online Masters in Business Administration (MBA) had been ranked the best in the world by the Financial Times, noting that the school’s distance learning MBA, which was created more than 30 years ago, had been second ever since the ranking was started in 2014, but had now risen to number one;
   (ii) That the University was a Stonewall Diversity Champion, noting that over the last few years Warwick had risen in the Workplace Equality Index. In the 2018 results, Warwick had risen 181 places to 163 (out of the 434 organisations);
