with your development priorities.

NEW * ACADEMIC WRITING WORKSHOP SERIES

The Academic Writing Programme Away days have proved very successful. In addition to the 1-1 support already on offer, a new series of workshops will be running during March on key aspects of academic writing.

13th March 2013

Writing Collaboratively and Responding to Readers' Comments.

Booking form: http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/lcd/development/awp_collaboration

19th March 2013

Effective Writing for Bids and Grants

This event is full, register interest in future dates on the booking form: http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/lcd/development/awp_bids

26th March

Academic Writing: Impact, Engagement and Dissemination

Booking form: http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/lcd/development/awp_engagement

All workshops are being led by Rochelle Sibley and will be held at Scarman House, including lunch for the full-day workshops.

There has been a rapid and high uptake for this new series. Please follow the links to register interest in similar workshops being planned for the summer term.

NEW THIS MONTH:

Events:

- ⇒ Academic Writing Workshop Series
- ⇒ UK Data Archive Workshop

Support Update:

- ⇒ Research Staff Forum: 18th March
- ⇒ Funding Update
- ⇒ Learning & Development support provision from April 2013.

Warwick Pioneers:

Communication and Impact

This 2-day course on 15th & 16th March is developed specifically for post doctoral and early career researchers in the sciences.

It is run in partnership with BBC Radio Coventry and includes a studio trip to record a radio broadcast.

For more information and to register email: moac3@warwick.ac.uk or visit: <http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/fac/sci/pioneers/pgcts/postdoctoralresearchers/>

Research Staff Forum

Next meeting convened for:
Monday 18th March
12.30-2.30pm.

Room 2, Wolfson Research Exchange, 3rd floor, Library.
Buffet lunch included.

This forum was established to serve a general networking function and to provide a focus for gathering Research Active Staff views on issues such as induction, training and development opportunities.

With research representatives from across the disciplines (and key university members, including a Pro Vice-Chancellor for Research, and representatives from the Library, Human Resources and the Learning Development Centre), previous meetings have proved effective in raising awareness and effecting change for research staff.

For further details about the Research Staff Forum please visit:

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/ldc/researchers/forum/>

Please book your place by 13th March to allow us to confirm and send out the agenda and further details.

Or contact Lisa Lavender if you would like to attend the next forum:

Feedback from two researcher-led events:

An Introduction to Entrepreneurship

Held on 21st February, this event offered a large range of information on the potential for academics in business and working with partner firms.

To view the presentation files (to be added next week) from the event please visit: <http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/ldc/development/entrepreneurship>

Activity Monitoring for Behaviour, Health and Well-Being

Held on 27th February, this event proved of great interest with 55-60 delegates attending.

This effective introduction certainly raised awareness and potential for future collaborations in the field. Discussions led to plans to target the next event to one of the technology or specific application areas. More details about the next event in May will be included in the April newsletter.

The LDC staff development provision

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/services/ldc/development/>

Developing LDC support for Research Active Staff from April 2013 for 3 years.

Sandy Sparks' post has been extended to support the broadening remit of Research Active Staff over the next three years.

The five key areas of focus will be:

- ⇒ Leadership
- ⇒ Skills (including academic writing, statistics, writing bids and grants)
- ⇒ Equality and Diversity
- ⇒ Career Development
- ⇒ Enterprise and Entrepreneurship

To highlight the support on offer and make it easier to find information and resources we are launching a new website and E-Newsletter.

One new section on the website will be FAQ's. Please contact either Sandy or Lisa with ideas for what YOU would like to see included in this section.

More details about the new website features will be included in the April newsletter.

The Vitae Midlands Research Staff Association

We are working hard to support all research staff in the Midlands to build a community of researchers who can support you regardless of where your next contract takes you. We will be there to offer a community of like-minded colleagues to talk and network with. Every member of the Midlands RSA is committed to actively engage in their own personal and professional development.

Membership is free and you can join today. Details and links to join the Midlands RAS on LinkedIn, Facebook or Twitter can be found on our 'Outside Warwick' page.

Charting an entrepreneurial career: how researchers can control their professional destiny

Vitae and the Entrepreneurial Institution are pleased to announce two new enterprise workshops on the 5th March in Bristol and on the 7th March in London.

Wherever you are in your research career, whether you are applying for research funding, moving into a new career or starting your own business (commercial or social) this day will enable you to understand your enterprising potential to create impact through research and take your ideas into a business. For further details can be found on our 'Outside Warwick' page, or to book your place on the workshops please visit:

British Science Association Media Fellowships

Application deadline: 11 March 2013

This British Science Association scheme aims to strengthen connections between scientists and the media by placing researchers in a 3-5 week summer placement with a media host such as the BBC, the Guardian and the Irish Times.

Researchers return to their organisations better equipped to handle media enquiries, to turn their research into news and promote their research and institution. For further information, including eligibility and the online application form, visit: <http://www.britishtscienceassociation.org/science-society/media-fellowships>
