Before you can pay the visa application fee, you'll need to pay the immigration health surcharge which will enable you to access healthcare services while in the UK.

The amount you'll need to pay is calculated according to the length of the visa you'll be granted if your application is successful, and that is based on the dates of your partner's – the Student Visa holders – course of study. You'll be charged in your local currency.

Once you have made this payment you should receive an e-receipt. You'll then be able to submit the visa application itself. Ensure that you follow any additional steps, such as attending an appointment at a visa centre, if required, so that your application is complete.
